Eisenhower Joins President Kennedy In Support Of Foreign Aid Program

By NORMAN G. CORNISH

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration, joined by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, told Congress Friday an $896 million slash in President Kennedy's foreign aid money bill would endanger free world security in the face of a mounting Communist threat.

Kennedy aides launched an all-out fight for the funds shortly after the House Appropriations Committee cut the bill to $3.4 billion on grounds the United States should curb overseas assistance until its own security needs are determined.

The total compared with a $4.2 billion aid ceiling for the 12 months that started July 1 approved by Congress in an authorization bill Wednesday. Kennedy originally sought $4.8 billion.

Administration officials said they expected Kennedy to lead the fight for the money by issuing a public statement.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara fired off a letter to appropriations committee chairman Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., warning that the cut would endanger free world security.

Eisenhower issued a statement saying he was "gravely concerned" at the fund cut during such a tense moment in the cold war. He called on Democrats and Republicans alike to join him in urging that the money be restored.

But Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., who led the fight for the cuts, declared after the two-hour committee meeting: "This is a great day for the taxpayers."

High administration sources branded the slash irresponsible. They announced a drive to mobilize congressional support for restoring the money when the bill comes to the House floor next Tuesday.

In their letter to Cannon, Rusk and McNamara said Communist pressure has been stepped up on many fronts during recent months. They cited Berlin, the resumption of Russian nuclear tests, Laos and Viet Nam.

The aid cuts, they said, "would greatly increase existing risks to the political and military position of the free world in the face of the Sino-Soviet threat."

They said the cut struck "clearly and directly" at vital U.S. national interests.

In a statement issued by his Gettysburg, Pa. office, Eisenhower said, "These slashes are incomprehensible to me, especially in light of present world tensions." He said the cuts appeared to strike hardest at military aid.

"I am sure that the large majority of thinking American citizens, Democrats and Republicans alike, would join me in urging vigorous support of efforts to remedy the damage that would result from these reported committee recommendations," Eisenhower said.

The money bill cut was Kennedy's second foreign aid setback.

The authorization measure granted his request for authority to make overseas development loans over the next five years. But it required him to seek the money from Congress each year rather than borrowing it through the Treasury.

The full House and Senate will have a chance to restore the committee cuts in the money bill or make deeper slashes. The House is scheduled to take up the measure next Tuesday.

In its report to the House, the committee said some members felt foreign aid outlays should be curtailed as much as possible "until such time as the Congress has a more definite knowledge of the ultimate need for funds and resources for our own security and welfare."

It said this view was based on the current tense international atmosphere and the fact the United States may have to continue foreign aid for perhaps 30 years.

Reds Resume Nuclear Tests

78 Die In Worst U.S. Plane Disaster

20 Children Among Dead Near Chicago

Top Investigators Begin Probing Airliner Crash

CHICAGO (AP) — An airliner loaded with holidaying men, women and children plunged into a field and burst into bits Friday. All 78 aboard perished in the nation's worst accident involving a single commercial plane.

The crash wiped out one family of seven and two others of six and five each.

An accent on youth added to the tragedy. The victims—73 passengers and five crew members—included 20 children, 26 women and 32 men.

The Trans World Airlines Constellation plopped into a field and burst into flames in the suburban area 10 miles west of Chicago's Midway Airport.

The plane, flight 529, left Boston at 7:45 p.m. Thursday. It was en route to Los Angeles and had made stops at New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago.

Witnesses said the four-engine plane apparently tried to make an emergency landing. There was no explosion in the air.

FBI Starts Probe

But the Federal Bureau of Investigation began checking the possibility that a bomb had been placed aboard.

A special FBI disaster unit and Civil Aeronautics Board officials flew in from Washington to take part in the inquiry.

The Constellation fell and burned at 2:06 a.m. between Clarendon Hills and Hinsdale.

It had just taken off from Midway and normally would have followed a southwesterly course. But when it fell, it was headed due north, indicating the pilot may have intended to return to the airport on Chicago's southwest side.

One part, and then another, of the tail dropped. Then the big airliner dug into the earth and disintegrated.

Crashed Near Homes

Josephine Broz, who lives in one of the five homes narrowly cleared by the Constellation, said, "The plane hit the ground and bounced several times. We could see the wheels, the wings, everything falling apart."

The crash spewed flaming oil on the Broz house, scorching one side and melting the nylon screens on the windows.

Charles C. George Jr., peered out a window and saw the dark form of the plane skim over two trees.

"The next thing I saw," he said, "was a huge sheet of flame as the plane hit the ground."

Vice President Goulart Arrives In South Brazil

Military Leaders Still Oppose His Inauguration On Monday

By TOM MASTERSON

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Vice President Joao Goulart returned to the friendly soil of south Brazil Friday night and was proclaimed president by his followers the moment his plane landed at Porto Alegre.

Opposition to him still seethed among military leaders in north Brazil.

But some congressional leaders at Brasilia made plans for an inaugural to install him Monday afternoon—with perhaps less than full powers.

Goulart flew from Montevideo, Uruguay, to the capital of his home state of Rio Grande do Sul after days of hesitation over how and when he should claim the presidency vacated last week by Janio Quadros.

While thousands cheered Goulart at Porto Alegre, congressional leaders in Brasilia announced their plans for the inaugural at 1 p.m. Monday.

There was no immediate indication that he would accept curtailed powers.

Military Chiefs Firm

The nation's military chiefs stuck to their refusal to accept the leftist vice president under any conditions. The military chiefs had ordered the armed forces to attack and dominate the pro-Goulart 3rd army in Rio Grande do Sul, but no significant military action was reported.

Cunha Mello, first secretary of the Senate, said in Brasilia a caucus of congressional and party leaders had approved the decision for Goulart's inaugural.

Officials said the plans were made on the assumption that Congress would approve by Monday a constitutional amendment creating a parliamentary system in Brazil. Under it Goulart would serve only as a figurehead president, with a prime minister making decisions.

East Germans Give Spaceman Cool Welcome

BERLIN (UPI) — The Soviet Union flew spaceman Gherman Titov into East Berlin Friday as an antidote to the West Berlin visit of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. But his reception was cool.

Walter Ulbricht, the Communist boss of East Germany, greeted the Russian with a kiss and little children waved flags and threw flowers. Titov drew 60,000 persons on a drive through East Berlin. Johnson attracted crowds up to 1,000,000.

Although the Communist government welcomed Titov, it withdrew the welcome mat for Dean Kurt Scharf, titular head of the All-German Protestant church. Dean Scharf was granted permission to visit West Berlin but was refused permission to return to his home in the East.

While the Communists were welcoming Titov, the Communist youth newspaper Young World warned East Germans that border guards would shoot to kill if they attempted to escape to the West.

West Berlin police said East German police opened fire on a fleeing 17-year-old East German Friday night and chased him 80 yards into West Berlin after the youth ran through a swamp at the head of the Havel Lake. The West Germans ordered the Communist to leave and took the youth to a refugee center. It was not clear whether the Reds actually fired within West Berlin territory.

Titov's visit did not distract the Communists from the task of building the prison wall even stronger about East Berlin.

UPI correspondents touring the border found Communist police stringing a seven-foot barbed wire fence along border canal banks, cutting open strips in wooded areas to give a clear field for gunfire and stretching barbed wire "hammocks" outside some border buildings to prevent persons diving into canals.

Ulbricht stood beside Titov in an open car for a 20-mile motorcade through the sparsely filled streets of East Berlin. Party organizers supplied school children with flags and flowers and brought truckloads of workers from the factories to give the welcome a festive air.

American Lenin Reported Dead In Moscow

William Z. Foster Dies At Age 80

MOSCOW (UPI) — William Z. Foster, the "American Lenin" of the Communist Party and three-time U.S. presidential candidate, died Friday night in a Moscow sanitorium at the age of 80.

Foster, president emeritus of the American Communist Party, had been ailing for years with a heart ailment and series of strokes that prevented his being tried on charges he conspired to overthrow the U.S. government.

He came to the Soviet Union early this year for medical treatment and was visited on his 80th birthday Feb. 25 by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev. He was paralyzed almost completely when he arrived but was reported slowly regaining the use of his limbs.

The cause of his death was not revealed.

His wife Esther, 82, was with him when he died.

Foster started as early as 1923 trying to turn the United States into a Soviet Union.

Foster consolidated his hold on the American Communist Party in 1944-45 when he ousted Earl Browder in a power struggle that rocked the party. He was elected chairman of the party in 1933, but Browder dissolved the party in January, 1944, and reconstituted it as the "Communist Political Association" with Foster serving on the executive committee.

In July 1945, Browder was stripped of authority, the CPA became the Communist Party once more and Foster again became its head.

In April, 1948, a bill to force members of the Communist Party to register was being debated in Congress. Foster warned that

Rowley Takes Oath As Head Secret Service

WASHINGTON (UPI) — James L. Rowley, who once shoved aside the man who now is President, was sworn in Friday as head of the Secret Service.

President Kennedy dropped in during the ceremony to remind Rowley of the incident, which occurred when the agent was helping guard former President Harry S. Truman.

The encounter with Rowley came during the 1948 presidential campaign, when Kennedy was a freshman congressman. "He pushed me aside to clear the way," (for Truman) the President said, grinning.

Prior to his selection as the 14th Secret Service chief, Rowley headed the White House detail. He succeeds U. E. Baughman, who retired Thursday after 13 years in the top post.

Flash Flood Kills Five In Ontario

TIMMINS, Ont. (UPI)—A flash flood killed five persons and drove more than 200 others from their homes here early Friday.

The five victims were trapped when a creek overflowed into their basement apartment after a violent rainstorm.

The victims were Mrs. Paul Girard, 32, her daughters, Dianne, 12, Lise, 7, Mary Anne, one month and Donald St. James, of the Children's Aid Society who was living with the family.

Police said Girard awoke about 12:30 a.m. EDT and ran outside with Mary Ann when he found the basement apartment flooded. He placed her in the back seat of a car partly submerged in the backyard of the home, then ran into the upstairs portion of the home and roused roomer Rodrique Laforge.

Laforge raced down the stairs, opened the door and found Suzanne. He carried her upstairs, then returned with Girard, but they were driven back by the water pressure, which had by that time flooded the apartment from floor to ceiling.

Police in the meantime found the baby dead in the car, which had become completely submerged by the rising water.

24 Nonaligned Nations Open Conference In Yugoslavia

See Colonialism Greater Threat Than Nuclear War

By HAROLD K. MILKS

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Leaders of 24 nonaligned nations began a five-day conference here Friday with most professing to fear Western colonialism more than the threat of an immediate nuclear war.

Liberation of so-called colonies appeared to take precedence over such problems as the Berlin crisis and the Kremlin's announcement it would resume nuclear tests, as aspirations of the 24 countries began to take form.

Three of the four top men present—President Tito of Yugoslavia, the United Arab Republic's president, Gamal Abdel Nasser; and Indonesia's President Sukarno—urged the world's uncommitted nations not to surrender but to continue their fight for peace and understanding.

Nasser rapped the Soviet Union sharply for its decision to resume nuclear tests, saying it had "shocked me as it shocked world public opinion." No matter what Soviet motives were, he added, the main thing was the decision's "clear bearing on the deterioration of the dangerous international position."

Other speakers on the inaugural day's program echoed his sentiments though most did so in a milder fashion. Anticolonialism appeared to be more important to most of the relatively underdeveloped nations than the Kremlin's bombs.

Sukarno blasted those who sought to hold their colonial empire—with one eye firmly on the Dutch from whom his country claims West New Guinea.

Nasser assailed France for its behavior in Africa, and criticized Belgium for its Congo record. He added some words of rebuke for the United States on the ground it permitted France to use North Atlantic Treaty Organization's equipment against Tunisians at Bizerte and allowed Portugal to bomb Angola natives with "made-in-America" planes and bombs.

President Ibrahim Abboud of the Sudan told the conference the whole of the African continent should be a neutral zone void of all atomic armament and its experiments. He criticized French nuclear tests directly but did not mention the planned resumption of Soviet tests. Abboud also called for an end to foreign bases in Africa in bitter attacks on French policy in Tunisia and Algeria.

But hope appeared to be a keynote, as eight of the 24 delegation leaders opened the inaugural day's schedule with speeches before a colorful assemblage of black, white and brown statesmen.

They represented Afghanistan, the provisional Algerian government, Burma, Cambodia, Ceylon, Cuba, Cyprus, Ethiopia, Ghana, Guinea, India, Indonesia, Iraq, Lebanon, Mali, Morocco, Nepal, Saudi Arabia, Somalia, Sudan, Tunis, United Arab Republic, Yemen and Yugoslavia.

Only one military uniform was seen among the ten presidents, one emperor, two kings, six prime ministers, three foreign ministers and two princes at the opening session. Indonesia's Sukarno appeared in full military regalia.

Khrush Invites UN To Move To West Berlin

MOSCOW (AP)— — Premier Khrushchev says he would be agreeable to having the United Nations move its headquarters to a "free city" of West Berlin, a British member of Parliament reported Friday. Khrushchev also was said to have softened somewhat his "troika" proposal for U.N. administration.

Konni Zilliacus, a leftist-sympathizing M.P., said the Soviet premier made the statements in a three-hour interview with him in Yalta Thursday. Sir Leslie Plummer, another Laborite Parliament member, also attended.

Khrushchev made it clear, however, that the U.N. move from New York to West Berlin could come about only if West Berlin becomes a free city according to Soviet interpretations, Zilliacus said by telephone from Yalta.

Discoverer Capsule Is Recovered

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Air Force announced Friday it had recovered a 300-pound capsule ejected from a Discoverer satellite — the seventh such success in the program.

But the Air Force said the payload from Discoverer XXIX fell beyond the recovery area north of Hawaii, out of the reach of waiting recovery planes.

Specially trained parachuting skindivers were dropped to the floating capsule at 8:10 p.m. EDT Within 40 minutes, the three-man team had pulled the gold-plated capsule aboard a 20-man life raft.

A Navy destroyer was steaming toward the capsule and expected to reach the area by dawn, Air Force officers here said.

The capsule was aboard the 25-foot long Discoverer satellite blasted into orbit over the poles Wednesday from Vandenberg Air Force Base Calif.

Adenauer Faces Possible Loss Of Majority

BONN, Germany (AP) — Officials of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party privately expressed fear Friday of losing their majority over all other parties in the West German Parliament.

That was a switch from their confidence earlier in the campaign. Recent public opinion rolls have shown the party losing ground slightly. The Berlin crisis could take even more support support from the chancellor who has headed the government for 12 years.

One party official, who asked anonymity, commented, "We are still certain to come out on top but there is a chance that we won't hold on to the absolute majority."

If that happens, Adenauer could lose his chancellorship after the general elections Sept. 17.

Russia Fires Big Bomb In Central Asia

U.S. Says Soviet Attempts To Spread Wholesale Terror

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russia broke the 34-month-old moratorium on nuclear weapons tests Friday by exploding a medium-powered atom bomb in the sky over Central Asia, the White House reported.

Associate Press Secretary Andrew T. Hatcher said the explosion was detected early Friday morning Washington time. U.S. experts reported to President Kennedy as soon as they confirmed the test in midafternoon.

Hatcher said the bomb "had a substantial yield in the intermediate range." He said it was not in the megaton range but was bigger than the U.S. bombs dropped on Japan in World War II. Those bombs equalled 20,000 tons of TNT.

The announcement came just three days after the Soviet Union announced it would resume nuclear weapons tests and develop super-bombs with the destructive power of 100 million tons of TNT.

Friday's bomb was puny compared to the giants Russia has threatened to make. The experiment suggested the Soviets were working on compact bombs and missile warheads, tactical weapons for battlefield use, or perhaps new triggers for giant H-bombs.

Dumped More Radiation

American experts said the device might have been a small test version of a bigger weapon being developed step-by-step.

The weapon obviously dumped more radiation into an atmosphere still containing residue from tests conducted by the United States and Russia prior to the voluntary suspension that began in 1958. But the fallout was not expected to be heavy.

On Capitol Hill, where the test was reported prior to the White House announcement, reaction was immediate.

Senate Disarmament Chairman Hubert H. Humphrey said the experiment undoubtedly was the first in a series which should be condemned as "waging war on humanity."

Cannon Urges Build-Up

Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., of the atomic weapons subcommittee said: "The Soviet explosion makes it pretty clear that they never had any honest intention of negotiating an agreement to ban nuclear testing."

Chairman Clarence Cannon of the House appropriations committee said Russia's willingness to ignore world opinion and resume testing meant the Soviets now consider their power supreme. He said the United States now must build up its own arms at top speed to "demonstrate to Russia that we can and will repel any attack."

The new Soviet test was the first one detected since Nov. 3, 1958, when the Russians exploded a device of comparatively low yield at their Novaya Zemlya proving ground north of the Arctic Circle in the Barents Sea.

The Russians now have tested at least 71 nuclear weapons.

The announcement came after President Kennedy conferred at the White House with chief disarmament negotiator Arthur Dean and John J. McCloy, his special disarmament adviser.

Dean said afterward, with Kennedy's approval, that the Soviet Union was embarking on a policy of "terrorization of humanity" in its announced plan to resume testing and develop a 100 megaton super-bomb.

In a statement clearly designed to focus world condemnation on Russia, Dean declared that "the Soviet government underestimates the people of the world if it thinks they will capitulate to a strategy of blackmail and terror."

Grand Jury Probing Block Files 18 Presentments

BALTIMORE (AP) — A grand jury which spent three months investigating a Baltimore bar-and-burlesque district, known as the Block, Friday presented 18 persons on 50 criminal charges.

The presentments, filed in Criminal Court, are official notice the jury intends to indict. The formal indictments will be pepared next week.

The charges ranged from kidnaping to small loan violations.

The jury investigated alleged strong-arm racketeering in the Block and other matters such as prostitution, gambling, the conduct of taverns and possible liquor law violations.

Four men were named on strong-arm conspiracy charges. They are Alfred Pittore, Lindsay C. Foster, Ralph Norton and another whose name was withheld until he is arrested.

Pittore, now in prison under a 10-year sentence for a street robbery, was charged with two kidnapings. The alleged victims were nightclub doorman Earl Fifer, abducted in Baltimore on May 9, and Dale K. Guyer of Anne Arundel County, kidnaped at Sunset Knolls on May 30.

Fifer was acting as a bodyguard for Edward L. Corbi, restaurant owner and suspended bail bondsman, when he disappeared during an unsuccessful early morning ambush attempt on Corbi.

Pittore and Norton, said by police to be serving a federal prison term on a bad-check charge, also were charged with conspiracy to kidnap Guyer and Corbi.

In another case, Orlando Perrera was charged with assault and six counts of violating the small, loan law. Perrera is one of three men previously indicted in the July 15 murder of Edward J Castranda.

Five night clubs figured in disorderly house charges in which eight proprietors were named as defendants.

One key figure in the investigation was charged with seven violations of pandering laws.

Pennsylvania Police Begin Radar Use

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—State Police in Pennsylvania Friday put into effect the use of radar on highways and the Pennsylvania Turnpike to catch speeders.

The units will be operated by veteran State policemen from 16 troops.

The long-sought radar bill was signed into law last May by Gov. David Lawrence. It went into effect at 12:01 a.m. Friday.

Maryland Man Among Victims In Plane Crash

CHICAGO (AP) — One Maryland man was among the 78 persons killed Friday in the crash of a Trans World Airlines plane near here.

The Maryland victim was Robert Marshall Aiken, a Navy gunners mate from Silver Spring, who was on leave from a base near Albuquerque, N.Mex.

A number of the victims in the crash, the nation's worst commercial flight disaster involving a single plane, had boarded the ship at Pittsburgh.

Among the victims also was Harold Wayne Lockhart, 23, an Air Force man whose guardian is Mrs. Don Lockhart of Elizabeth, W.Va. He was en route to San Francisco, and had flown to Chicago from Parkersburg, W.Va. to board the plane.

Another of the victims was Miss Agnes Drazenovich, 29, of Berwyn, Ill., a nurse at MacNeal Memorial Hospital. The woman was a native of Fairmont, W.Va., and formerly worked at the Fairmont General Hospital. She was bound for a vacation in San Francisco.

Kennedy Nominates Abraham L. Freedman

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy Friday nominated Abraham L. Freedman, Philadelphia lawyer and former city solicitor, to be a U.S. district judge for Eastern Pennsylvania.

It is one of the new district judgeships, paying $22,500 a year, which were created by congress this year.

Freedman, 56, has practiced law in Philadelphia since 1926 and taught at both the Temple and University of Pennsylvania law schools.

He was city solicitor from 1952 to 1956.

Department Of Correction Seeks Big Budget Increase

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Department of Correction has asked for $7,645,881 to operate Maryland prisons next year.

The spending proposal, filed Friday with budget officials, asks for a $696,595 increase over current appropriations.

The prison officials predicted the population at Maryland correctional institutions will increase by 500 to a total of 5,675 during the fiscal year starting next July 1.

They asked for 38 new jobs, bringing the agency's total employes to 931.

Their proposal will be screened by budget officials and Gov. Tawes before it is submitted to the legislature.

A breakdown shows the House of Correction seeks $2,151,126, an increase of $190,869; the Penitentiary asks $2,120,796, an increase of $130,275; the Reformatory for Males seeks $1,813,359, an increase of $343,657; the Reformatory for Women asks $450,752, an increase of $58,080, and correctional camps are seeking $656,991, an increase of $142,958.

Russia Fires

He charged that Moscow is following a policy of "overkill," that is, destroying an entire city or entire country when such destruction was not strategically necessary.

Dean, Chief U. S. negotiator at the Geneva nuclear test ban talks, made the remarks to newsmen after conferring twice with Kennedy. He was summoned home after Russia announced Wednesday it would resume nuclear tests to develop giant doomsday weapons.

In his White House statement, Dean charged that the Kremlin was following a strategy of blackmail and fright by developing a bomb which is an instrument of "mass terror," not a military weapon.

He said a 100 megaton bomb—equal to the explosive force of 100 million tons of TNT — is "far too large for military objectives."

Dean said Russia's decision to resume tests at a time when a test ban treaty could have been signed showed "a determined Soviet purpose to rest its future policy on the terrorization of humanity."

Heard Grinding Noise

Savage said he had heard an unfamiliar grinding noise when the plane lifted away from Pittsburgh. When he woke from a nap near Chicago, he added, the aircraft "shook rather violently."

The search for the cause of the crash began quickly. CAB officials planned to assemble the pieces of wreckage in a hangar.

Ambulances and hearses rolled up to the Cook County morgue on Chicago's West Side with bodies wrapped ir rubber sheets.

James Clark, deputy coroner of Du Page County—where the plane fell—said the bodies would be taken to the Westmont Fire Station after they are examined. Relatives can claim them in the improvised morgue in Westmont.

The first study of the bodies, physicians reported, didn't show any signs of an explosion. The injuries were similar to those of automobile accident victims, the physicians said.

Cites Constitution

Goulart's brother-in-law, Gov. Leonel Brizzola of Rio Grande do Sul, said in a broadcast, "I am appealing to the Congress and to the military forces to show we are a sovereign nation, a free people through support of the constitution."

He lashed out at what he called vain military leaders "who would lead our country to the horrors of a civil war."

The War Ministry responded by accusing Brizzola of "creating a grave climate of agitation and subversion" in Rio Grande do Sul, and vowed to crush it.

The three military ministers—Marshal Odylio Denys, Vice Adm. Silvio Heck of the navy and Brig. Gen. Gabriel Grum Moss of the air force—have opposed Goulart's succession to the presidency from the start.

Sen. Northrop Is Confirmed U.S. Judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Friday confirmed President Kennedys' appointment of State Sen. Edward S. Northrop of Montgomery County as a new U.S. district judge for Maryland.

Northrop, Democratic majority leader in the upper house of the Maryland General Assembly, will fill one of two new positions on the federal district bench at Baltimore.

The two new judgeships, paying $22,500 a year, were created recently by Congress.

Northrop's confirmation to the life-time post came after the State senator had won praise Thursday at Senate Judiciary Committee hearings considering the nomination.

He won support from both Republicans and Democrats at the hearings.

Shakespeare Fined

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, England (UPI)—William Shakespeare was fined five pounds ($14) Friday for speeding.

The William Shakespeare before Cox was 22 years old and a resident of Coventry. He pleaded guilty.

Cuts In State Spending Will Increase Local Taxes, Dr. Long Warns Mahoney

BALTIMORE (AP) — Major reductions in state spending could mean major increases in local Maryland real estate taxes, a Democratic Party leader said Friday.

The spokesman, Dr. Clarence C. Long, executive co-chairman of the party's State Central Committee, warned against cutting back state health, education and welfare programs to reduce the State budget.

Curtailment of state programs would mean these programs would have to be carried by Baltimore and the 23 counties, he said.

"Since the real estate tax is the prime source of revenue at the local level, the result would be a staggering increase in local property tax rates," Long said.

Long's statement was in answer to George P. Mahoney, a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Earlier this week, Mahoney attacked the administration of Gov. Tawes for its fiscal policies, and particularly for raising the base of the sales tax.

Vatican Council Planners Encourage And Receive Thousands Of Suggestions

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

A worldwide "Vox Populi" — voice of the people — is rising today in the Roman Catholic Church, and authorities are encouraging it.

The mounting tide of suggestions and viewpoints is part of the planning for the second Vatican Council, to be held sometime in 1962, the first such global gathering of Catholic magistrates in nearly a century.

In a church that often is pictured as being ruled only from the top, the ordinary clergymen and laymen are being urged to register their ideas and proposals for the council's consideration.

Laymen should make their hopes about the council known, and not stand by as idle witnesses, says Franziskus Cardinal Koenig, archbishop of Vienna, a member of the Central Preparatory Commission for the council.

"Do not wait for the bishop or a report from Rome if you have something to say about the council," he said. "Sound a warning whenever you feel you ought to. Urge when you feel urging is necessary."

As a result of such advice, widely repeated in dioceses here and abroad, literally thousands of suggestions already have poured in on the Vatican planners.

The process of popular, rank-and-file participation in government of the Church is nothing new in Catholicism, but to many people it is a little-known aspect that the present reminders bring to the fore.

Analyzing it, Rev. Gregory Baum of St. Basil's Seminary, Toronto, writes in a recent issue of the Davenport (Iowa) Catholic Messenger:

"The magisterium of the Church not only speaks to the people, it also listens to the people. It is in this connection that theologians speak of the prophetical office of the laity."

In words that many Protestants might think reflect a strictly Protestant attitude, he points out:

"The spirit of God is not confined to the hierarchy. The Holy Ghost operates in all members of the Church and may lead any of them to make a contribution to the evolution of doctrine."

He notes that most of the great movements and reforms in the Church originated in "obscure corners." Even Protestant influences, he said, may affect Church developments.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Nehemiah	4	15-23
Monday	Psalms	128	1-6
Tuesday	Haggai	1	1-6
Wednesday	I Corinthians	3	1-9
Thursday	I Corinthians	3	10-17
Friday	Philippians	2	3-11
Saturday	I Thessalonians	2	8-13

Mass production has taught us a new dimension in cooperation. Now three men operate the same machine around the clock. And as the whistle blows at the change of the shift one hand surrenders the lever to another—while the wheels spin endlessly.

The same ready cooperation is becoming characteristic of the work of our churches. A Church School teacher moves to another city. There is another earnest Christian to take over her class. The term of an officer expires. There are equally qualified men ready to serve if elected.

Make willingness one of your virtues as you go to Church each Sunday. Volunteer for one of the humble yet all-important tasks that keep the wheels of spiritual progress forever spinning.

Donna Haines Will Be Bride Of James Sperry

Miss Donna Carol Haines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Haines, 973 McMullen Highway, will become the bride of James Russell Sperry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sperry, Brant Road, Cresaptown, tonight.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 8 o'clock, in Potomac Park EUB Church, with Rev. George Widmyer officiating. Miss Rebecca Haines will be her sister's maid of honor, while Miss Catherine Leer and Miss Ida Hartman are the bridesmaids. Donald Yoder, Jr., is serving as Mr. Sperry's best man and Gary Nedrow, Glenn Clayton and Allen Haines will be the ushers.

Being given in marriage by her father, the bride will wear a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle, fashioned with long sleeves and a Sabrina neckline. Her tulle veil, edged with Chantilly lace, is held by a Princess Margaret style tiara. Completing her costume, she will carry yellow carnations, topping a Testament.

Her attendants will wear green taffeta sheath gowns with matching chiffon overskirts, and short sleeves. With them they will have green pill box type hats and carry bouquets of white carnations and yellow roses.

Mrs. Haines chose a beige wool jersey for her daughter's wedding. With it she will wear brown accessories. Mrs. Sperry selected a blue wool knit with white accessories. Both will have corsages of yellow carnations.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Allegany High School and Memorial Hospital School of Nursing. Until her resignation, she was employed on the nursing staff of Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser. Her fiance is a graduate of Meyersdale High School and Bridgewater, Va., College. He is doing graduate work at the University of Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. Haines will entertain with a reception for their daughter and her bridal party in the church social hall. A miniature bride and bridegroom will adorn the tiered wedding cake.

For their wedding trip through the south, the bride will be attired in a black and brown plaid two-piece dress—with black accessories and will wear her corsage of yellow carnations.

American Family Problems Discussed

Members attending the National Home Demonstration Council, at the University of Maine were praised by Dr. E. T. York, director of the federal extension service, on their work along the lines of civil defense. He reminded them that besides their duties to protect their families, they also must be prepared to protect the nation's supply of livestock and foodstuffs. He deplored the great forces in existence that are capable of annihilating each other, yet "people are amazingly unconcerned and fully unprepared."

Another threat to the existence of the family as a social unit was voiced by Owen Durgin, statistician from the University of New Hampshire, who saw modern housing, mobility of present-day families and diversification of interests, calling for constant adjustments if the family unit is to survive.

Discussing problems brought on by wives and mothers assuming the role of wage-earner, Dr. Jane Crow, director of the School of Home Economics at the University of Maine, warned of increased income tax, facilities for caring for pre-school age children and less active home management.

The delegates to the 25th annual meeting also were taken on a 32 bus caravan to Acadia National Park, Mt. Desert Island, Beehive Mountain, Bar Harbor, Sand Beach, the Thunder Hole, Cadillac Mountain, Jordan Pond, Orono, Veazie, Bangor, Brewer, Ellsworth, Northeast Harbor and Sargent Drive. Among the 87 from Maryland were Mrs. Douglas Smith, chairman of the State Alumnae Association; Mrs. Harry Bender, vice president of the Allegany County Council and county delegate and Mrs. T. E. Williamson, member of the LaVale Homemakers Club. The meeting was August 28-30.

H. H. LOWERY

H. H. Lowery Promoted By KS Tire Firm

Appointment of Henry H. Lowery, 46, as plant manager of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant under construction in Tyler, Texas, was announced yesterday by James C. Warden, vice president—manufacturing.

Lowery is well known to business and industry in Tyler, having been a member of the Kelly management team that visited and evaluated potential Kelly plant sites before finally selecting Tyler. His appointment is effective immediately.

Prior to joining Kelly-Springfield in September, 1945, Lowery was assistant manager of the manufacturing division of the Litchfield Park, Ariz., Goodyear Aircraft Corporation. He later served as manager of Kelly-Springfield's efficiency department and after several special assignments was promoted to production superintendent in January, 1961.

Born in Attala, Ala., Lowery was educated in the public schools of Gadsden, Ala., and completed extension work from the University of Alabama.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lowery have been active in the First Presbyterian Church and local community affairs. Lowery has been an elder in the church, member of the executive board and is president of the Potomac Council Boy Scouts of America, charter president of the LaVale Lions Club and former vice president of Allegany Camper Club. He holds the Silver Beaver award for his Boy Scout work.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowery and their two sons, Roger and Thomas, will move from 705 LaVale Terrace, LaVale, to Tyler after the first of the year.

The $10 million, 200,000 square foot Kelly-Springfield Tyler plant was announced and ground was broken for its construction on May 25. This plant will be Kelly's second manufacturing facility and none of the Cumberland plant production facilities will be deactivated or moved. Initial production in the Tyler plant will get underway in the second quarter of 1962 and full production will be reached by the fourth quarter of 1962.

Two Damage Suits Filed

Two damage suits have been docketed in Circuit Court.

Blanche E. and Mary Louise Snyder, 336 Greene Street, filed suit against the George F. Hazelwood Company in connection with the damage they allege was caused by the firm to a building they own at 36 Greene Street during blasting operation when the Wills Creek flood project was underway a few years ago.

Teresa C. Chambers filed suit through her parents, William P. and Margaret I. Chambers, 92 Wright Street, Frostburg, against Frank F. Gregg, Irwin, Pa.

The declaration states the Chambers girl was a passenger in a car when it was struck by an automobile operated by Gregg last May 19.

County Board Angered Over New Parking Meters

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners was "hot under the collar" yesterday, but it wasn't the weather.

What brought on the "heat" was the sight of city workers installing metal posts in front of the Court House for installation of parking meters.

Commissioner John J. Rowan, president of the board, said "I don't think parking meters should be placed in front of the Court House or the County Library, Board of Education office or other public establishments".

"The people of Allegany County should be able to drive to any of these buildings and park for a few minutes without having to pay for a parking meter", he stated.

Rowan pointed out the various functions at the Court House such as the tax office, Orphans Court, Circuit Court and other agencies which are visited on business by many persons daily.

He stated that "I believe the people on county business at the Court House should be allowed to park free while transacting business in the building. It's a disgrace".

Commissioner John T. Mason said "I though they would be taking out parking meters instead of putting in additional ones."

Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon, who is also a Baltimore Street merchant, stated "It seems the city administration does exactly the opposite what the various experts on traffic and parking have recommended in recent weeks".

"The city is picking up nickels while merchants are losing shopping dollars", Shinnamon said.

County Earns $387

Allegany County earned $387.52 interest for 41 days in which $150,000 of county funds were on deposit in U. S. Treasury bills, according to Commissioner John T. Mason.

Major coal mine disasters — in which five or more men are killed — account for only seven per cent of all coal mine fatalities in the U.S.

College Open Monday For Applications

Labor Day will be observed as a holiday by nearly all institutions and business houses — with one notable exception, Allegany Community College.

Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, president of the college that will open here on Monday, September 25, said he and Mrs. Bessie Burton, administrative secretary, will be at the college from 1 to 5 p. m. Monday.

Dr. Zimmer explained that it was felt the holiday would be a convenient time for prospective students to inquire as to the curricula that will be offered, and for applicants to be interviewed.

The registrar, William Smerling, returns to Chicago this weekend to arrange for the moving of his family here, Dr. Zimmer said.

Medieval merchants of Venice ruled the European market with fortunes founded on a monopoly of the Oriental overland trade. When news came in 1499 that Vasco da Gama had sailed around the Cape of Good Hope, opening a sea route to India, several banks failed, and Venice entered a long decline.

County Schools Begin Term Wednesday

Another school year looms for the approximately 19,000 students in Allegany County public and parochial schools with the opening of classes on Wednesday morning.

The actual school calendar for public schools started Wednesday with high school registration and Thursday with elementary registration.

On Tuesday, all principals will meet in their schools with their faculties and on Wednesday at 9 a. m. classes will start with dismissal at noon.

A half day will be observed next Thursday, but next Friday schools will be open for the full session.

Most parochial schools open up on Wednesday morning with half days the remainder of the week.

As far as public schools are concerned, the teacher turnover was about average for between the close of classes in June and now.

In the junior and senior high school category, there were 40 positions changed.

Twelve positions in elementary schools were filled, with two of them being former teachers recalled, while ten were new to this system.

There were a number of transfers due to the retirements of two principals, Miss Katherine Longridge at Barton and Miss Imogene Caudill at Eckhart.

Miss Grace Filer of Mt. Royal was transferred to Eckhart; Miss Mary Elizabeth Straw of Ellerslie to Mt. Royal, with no action being taken on the principalship at Ellerslie.

Miss Longridge was succeeded by Sue Todd Dawson, principal of Midland, while Miss Marian Bevans, coordinator at Mt. Savage School, took over at Midland. Raymond Ralston, sixth grade teacher at Parkside, was promoted to coordinator at Mt. Savage.

Electronic Course Begins Tuesday

An 86-week course in electronic technical training will begin Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at 38 North Mechanic Street under the supervision of Electronics Institute, Inc.

H. V. Leslie, president, said classes will also be offered Wednesdays and Saturdays from 9 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.

B. J. Portney is registrar and Edward Yetter, Baltimore, instructor.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently I received an invitation to a bridal shower. I was told not to bring a gift, but the price of the luncheon was $15. This included the meal in a hotel and the invitation said my name would appear on the card which would be attached to the lovely gift — purchased by a committee. The reason for this unusual arrangement, according to the committee: "The bride would rather have one beautiful gift than twenty-five pieces of junk."

I told a friend who was also invited that I thought the whole thing was in pretty poor taste. She said I was "a small town hick" and that this is the way society people do it. Is this true?
—FLABBERGASTED

DEAR FLABBER: This sounds like a donor luncheon, not a bridal shower. Such an invitation is an insult and anyone who would accept it must be desperately hard up for a party.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 24-year-old daughter has had many romances but nothing serious—until now. She brought the young man home to dinner last night and we were appalled.

We offered him a glass of sherry and he snorted "What is this—a Sunday School picnic? I drink bourbon." When dinner was announced he took the bottle along to the table.

He started his salad before grace was said and continued to eat during the blessing. He speared a chop off the platter with his own fork and when our daughter reached for the last roll he said "That's got my name on it," and took it out of her hand.

My husband and I were mortified and we told her of our feelings after he left. She claims manners are unimportant and that his fine mind and good character count for everything. Any comment?—APPALLED

DEAR APPALLED: More is involved here than bad manners. The young man is selfish, inconsiderate and immature. I hope your daughter recognizes (before it's too late) that "a fine mind" counts for little alongside crippling, destructive flaws of character.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: How right you were when you told the woman who was in love with her married boss to change jobs and not waste her precious time waiting for him to "free himself." You so wisely added "If he WERE free, he'd probably marry someone else. They usually do."

For 15 years I turned my whole life over to a man who fairly dripped with charm. He was my boss. He had position, wealth—and a family. His wife was in poor health, and it sounds ghastly but I actually waited for her to die so I could marry my love.

Last October she passed away. I decided to be patient and ladylike, and wait out the "respectable" year. I held his hand, offered him solace, moral support, love and attention. Three weeks ago he gave it to me straight—"I want to remarry but it must be someone who is socially acceptable."

I was "socially acceptable" to cheat with for fifteen years, but marriage is a horse of a different color. Or should I say "jackass"—which is what I was.—FOOL OF THE CENTURY

More Study Of Crop Spraying Needed

Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson is a man worth listening to in the field of his eminence—man's relationship to nature.

The former chief of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, now head of the Wildlife Management Institute, Washington, said a mouthful in addressing the 10th Pacific Science Congress attended by delegates from 40 nations.

His topic in Honolulu was pesticides. "The unremitting drive to develop more powerful chemicals and rush them into commercial use," he said, "has completely overshadowed efforts to gain an understanding of the relationship of pesticides to man and to animal life."

He told of losses of rabbits, raccoons, opossums, mice, rats and armadillos in various Southern states—and of fish kills in New Brunswick and Montana, and bird kills in Wisconsin attributable to spraying.

Dr. Gabrielson recognizes that the farmers' chemical warfare against pests—at the rate of $700 million a year—saves crops worth billions. What worries him is the long-range effect on the ecology—the total environment of life that includes man. Understandably he put in a plea for the 32 million Americans who hunt and fish each year and spend $4 billion a year on goods and services used in these sports.

An answer lies, of course, in continued imaginative research as carried on at public and corporate expense. Another answer must be in redoubled educational efforts. Certainly a farmer will be wise to use one gallon instead of two—if the one gallon does the killing.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Brazil

The Soviet forces are moving into the Americas as rapidly as they can. They have laid down a Red Satellite in Cuba; they have built a Communist enclave in British Guiana; they are rapidly moving into Venezuela and unless we do something about it, they will succeed in the Dominican Republic and Haiti.

But which Communists are these? Cuba started with the influence of Soviet Russia in support of Castro, but gradually the Chinese Communists are moving into every country of Latin America. Not being white, as the Russians are, the Chinese seem to belong in a brown environment. They do not carry over any of the antipathies which the mixed peoples of Latin America have against the white peoples. They do not have a history of assumed superiority, although throughout Chinese history, the sons of Han have always looked upon themselves as the center of the universe.

Chinese have been settling in Latin American countries for more than a century. Jamaica, Trinidad and other Caribbean countries have large Chinese populations. The older families have become assimilated into the general population by intermarriage both with whites and Negroes.

There is a considerable East Indian element in some Latin American countries. Dr. Jagan, who is now taking over British Guiana, is an East Indian married to a Jewess from Chicago.

The Brazilian population is very mixed but it has not, in the past, had a large Chinese population. The Chinese influence is new and would rather indicate that the Communists and left-wing liberals in Brazil prefer to avoid a conflict with Catholicism and therefore it is necessary to establish a relationship with Red China rather than with Soviet Russia.

Brazil is a Roman Catholic country, particularly among the remaining Portuguese families. There are also a number of Italian families in Brazil who have established significant economic and social positions for themselves. The basic population of Brazil is Indian with an overlay of Portuguese. As the Portuguese have never accepted racial discrimination anywhere on Earth, intermarriage has been constant over the whole of Brazil's known history.

However, Brazil, up to now, has been solidly Roman Catholic, rejecting non-Catholic ways of life.

The country is extraordinarily poor, although it possesses surprisingly important natural resources, few of which have been adequately developed. Its great export crop has been coffee, Brazil taking the place in world markets which had earlier been held by Mocca and Java. The United States, during the war years, saved the economy of Brazil by tacitly accepting a Brazilian price control which gave Brazil an enormous advantage.

However, this advantage was spent in an excellent idea if carried out over a century. It has been attempted in a few years. The idea was the building of the city of Brasilia, as a new capital, thus opening up the vast Amazon region to economic development. The cost was enormous, altogether beyond Brazil's capacity. The results could not be immediately satisfactory.

The concept is sound in the sense that whereas Brazil is an enormous country with great resources, it is developed in a narrow area of limited productivity. The opening up of the Amazon hinterland would be advantageous not only to Brazil but to the world. But it is such a task as could not be done overnight. Brazil's politicians had no time and the enterprise resulted in the crippling of Brazil's economy, in bringing the value of Brazilian currency down to a ridiculously inflated figure.

The result has been general dissatisfaction. Poverty became more drastic. In every situation such as this, a combination of revolutionary groups and the soldiers produces a basic revolution which can be readily passed over.

This is what Brazil is going through now. A combination of labor and peasant leaders with military men having taken control of the government. It so happens that the Brazilian left-wing group has allied itself to Red China and should they gain control it would not be long before the country would be full of Red Chinese advisers and experts. The new revolutions are very swift in their seizure of control, unless resisted by the military or by external forces. They import the physical means for dominating a people from Czechoslovakia and Poland and are soon in a position to hold their territory against their own people. This could happen in Brazil during the next three months—if the United States does nothing about it.

Statesmanship Could Solve Labor Problems

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — In England this writer had an opportunity in recent days to discuss with top men in the field of labor-management relations the problem of avoiding strikes.

Great Britain has made considerable progress in this area by what might be called moral suasion instead of law. This is of particular interest to America, where in recent years one administration after another has been groping for such a solution.

Not all is rosy in England, to be sure. At the moment, for instance, labor is protesting vociferously against the plans of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Selwyn Lloyd, to bring about what is called a wage "pause." This has thus far affected only the civil servants, whose wage increases have been halted because Mr. Lloyd, as head of the British Treasury, sees ahead some storms in the balance-of-payment problem. Mr. Lloyd also has proposed a national economic planning agency which, though not a part of the government, would be an independent body consisting of national representatives of the unions and the employers and probably himself. It would provide information and statistical data about the national economy to help it "to operate."

The Trades Union Congress — the national organization of British labor unions — has frowned on the plan because of a fear it will brush aside the existing informal but effective arbitration machinery.

In Great Britain, the settling of labor disputes involves a minimum of governmental intervention. While the procedures developed separately in each industry over the years differ widely, they share one approach — to bring the national interest to bear on local disputes as a way of reaching compromises. Approximately 3,000 disputes a year are settled at one stage or another by the procedures agreed upon by both sides. This approach began back in the 1890s and has been developing ever since.

In the engineering trades, for example, the procedures operate in three stages. If a dispute cannot be settled informally, a "works conference" is set up at the factory, with management on one side and the shop stewards representing the union on the other. The meeting may call in outside advice from the local employers' association and the district officials of the union.

If the two sides can't agree, either can demand the second stage of the negotiation — a conference which takes place, not in the local factory, but in one of the centers where the employers' association and the unions have their district offices. This is at the district level. At this stage, more than half the disputes sent up from the factory level have been settled.

But if no agreement is forthcoming, the dispute is taken up by the Central Conference, which meets on the second Friday of every month throughout the year. This is the highest level of negotiation in the engineering industry, and it is attended by members of the national bodies on both sides.

Other industries use similar procedures. The iron-and-steel industry, for instance, sends down to the local level national representatives of both management and labor. They work from the top down, but the effect is the same.

Other industries in Britain use governmental arbitration machinery, and others have no formal procedure.

But the thing to remember about British industrial relations is that agreements between management and labor on a national level do not have the legal status of a contract as in the United States. They are more or less in the form of "gentlemen's agreements." This is a weakness in the system, because it has led to a large number of wildcat strikes.

The influence of Communists inside labor unions in Europe is being felt more and more. Top officials of the labor unions deny that the Communists wield any such influence. Indeed, they point proudly to the fact that a relatively small number of workers are identified with the Communist Party. But this is a naive approach. The Communists in Moscow have long been operating through only a handful of persons in many a national organization. These agents are responsible for stirring up all kinds of antagonisms and for agitating extreme positions.

Communist influence in labor unions is small in the Scandinavian countries, but it is growing in France and in Italy. It has played a part also in British trade union affairs, though the British are not willing to admit that it has caused any considerable damage. Recently, however, one of the largest unions, the Electrical Trades Union, with 240,000 members, was suspended from the national organization — the Trades Union Congress — because many of its officers are Communists or are sympathetic with Communist aims. These officials could not possibly have been elected if the members had not been indifferent and failed to attend union meetings and vote.

There is no question but that Moscow has recognized clearly one of the weaknesses of the free world — its labor problems — and has gradually infiltrated in important unions, making disputes more and more difficult to settle. This is all the more reason why statesmanship is so necessary nowadays to bring about the settlement of labor-management problems.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

REDSKINS—At a news conference the other day, Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall was asked if he intended to see any professional football games in Washington this year.

Udall replied that he had not received his gold pass—which has been given for years to Cabinet members and other officials by the Washington Redskins pro football team owner, George Preston Marshall.

To understand the colloquy, it is necessary to recall that some months ago Udall noted the absence of Negro players on the Redskin roster. He also noted that beginning this year, the Redskins will play their home games in the new D. C. stadium constructed with federal funds, and that in these circumstances there was a responsibility to avoid discrimination.

When Udall conveyed his thoughts to Marshall, the crusty Redskins chief did some fairly loud howling, but ultimately came around to grudging acceptance of Udall's views. Marshall said he'd draft one or more Negroes for the 1962 playing season, if available.

However, Udall hasn't gotten his pass to the games. And it's understandable why he doubts he will.

Childbearing Should Be A Joyful Experience

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Childbearing should be a joyful and satisfying experience. It ought to bring to the mother a sensation of fulfillment and accomplishment. This is best accomplished by accepting pregnancy as a natural process during which the reproductive organs and many of the bodily functions are altered.

Pregnancy is not an illness and the expectant mother must not regard herself as a sick or convalescent person. The exception occurs if there are complications. Some of these untoward developments are preventable but others are not.

No expectant mother need become fearful or apprehensive, because the odds are overwhelming that she will be safe and the baby will be normal. Anxieties are likely to crop up when the woman receives a long list of what to do and what not to do. Advice from neighbors and bridge partners also may add to her anxiety, especially when passed along by women who had a difficult time during delivery.

Emotional stress may lead to depression that is not always evident on the surface. This is avoided by airing problems as they arise, rather than holding them back and allowing them to simmer. Failure to discuss such matters with the physician may lead to fretting and frustrations.

The last few months of pregnancy tend to be the most trying. Anticipation heightens each time the baby moves. Friends and relatives discuss the coming event because everyone is interested in the mother and the new arrival.

The woman who has had all of her questions answered and knows what to expect is likely to be calm and relaxed. A properly prepared and informed pregnant woman usually becomes a satisfied, happy, and emotionally sound mother after the baby comes.

PLUGGED SWEAT GLANDS

Mrs. R. writes: How can I keep my baby from getting prickly heat? No sooner does he get over one outbreak than he gets another.

REPLY

You may be overdressing him or your living quarters may be too warm. Our leaflet on prickly heat gives suggestions on minimizing the problem. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for this leaflet.

WHOOPING COUGH

Mrs. T. writes: Is it unusual for a grownup to catch whooping cough from a child?

REPLY

Not if the adult has never had the disease. I have heard of a 70 year old baby-sitter who contracted the disease from her young charge.

MASTOID INFECTION

Mrs. G. S. writes: What is done for chronic mastoiditis?

REPLY

If the antibiotics cannot eliminate the infection, surgery is advised. The success of the drug treatment depends upon matching the right antibiotic against the right germ.

SLEEPING PRONE

L. A. S. writes: Will sleeping on the stomach cause cancer of the breasts?

REPLY

No. The cause of breast cancer is not known but we can eliminate this possibility for many obvious reasons.

THE FLY HAZARD

D. F. writes: Are flies really a hazard nowadays, or just a nuisance?

REPLY

RUPTURED SPLEEN

R. B. writes: What causes rupture of the spleen in an 8 year old boy?

REPLY

Injury to the abdomen is the most common cause. Infections and blood disorders are among other possibilities.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries will not be accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A great big elephant lumbered into an Eighth Avenue bar and grille, ordered six straight whiskies, and consumed them unhurriedly with a faraway gleam in his eyes. "You sure use up a lot of whiskey," noted the bartender. "Why don't you buy it by the bottle?"

"I haven't found a liquor store yet," explained the elephant, "that gives peanuts with it."

A hypocritical business pirate once told Mark Twain, "Before I die I mean to make a pilgrimage to the Holy Land. I will climb to the top of Mount Sinai and read the Ten Commandments aloud." "I have a better idea," said Twain. "Why don't you stay right at home in Boston and keep them?"

A reporter visiting Mark Twain's boyhood haunts in Hannibal, Mo., some years back, found one old gaffer who discounted the glory and fame of his erstwhile school chum. "Shucks," he said. "I knew as many stories as Sam Clemens. He just writ them down."

Pearson Claims Khrushchev Could Be Made 'A Real Friend' Of U.S.

By Drew Pearson

GAGRI, Georgia, USSR — My conclusions after spending two days with Nikita Khrushchev, some of the time in very serious conversation, some of it in light banter, is that the United States and President Kennedy still have a great opportunity to win a real friend.

That friendship, however, will depend on a compromise regarding West Berlin, because there is no question whatsoever that Nikita Khrushchev, the former coal miner who helped fight the battles of Stalingrad and Kursk, is going ahead with an East German peace treaty.

As he repeated to me many times: "I hope the United States will join us. That will bring great happiness for us."

But regardless of the United States, he is going ahead. He will give guarantees for the safety and independence of West Berlin and he proposes Allied token troops in the city, with free access to the city—if the United States cooperates in the treaty.

If this means war, then the United States will have to start that war. Khrushchev will not start it, but he is ready for it. He made this very clear. His plans for the future, his publication of the 20-year plan, his discussion of agriculture, hydroelectric power, irrigation, the development of the "new lands," all indicate that he is thinking about peace. So are the people of Russia. They are busy discussing the 20-year plan, and they don't want a war to disrupt it.

War's Dreadful Toll

Khrushchev told me that he had warned Kennedy at Vienna: "You have never tasted war on your shores. We have. We lost 20,000,000 people in the last war. We don't want another. But we are going to sign the peace treaty with East Germany. We hope you will sign it with us, but we'll sign it anyway."

Khrushchev didn't put it in so many words, but it was obvious that he was disappointed in his meeting with Kennedy. He had set great hopes for better relations with Kennedy and he was genuinely sorry that his friendship with Eisenhower had broken off, and he referred to Ike in friendly terms many times during our talks.

I became convinced that if Eisenhower's and Khrushchev's friendship had not been disrupted by the U-2 incident a new era of Russian-American understanding might well have developed. Khrushchev said he had hoped to get a new start with Kennedy, and, as previously reported, he purposely delayed releasing the RB-47 fliers during the election campaign in order to help Kennedy after he was elected.

So he was dismayed, he told me, when he and Kennedy came to a deadlock over Berlin and began talking about a military showdown.

Khrushchev sometimes gets excited. Perhaps he got excited with Kennedy. Anyway, when Kennedy began talking about equal military strength, Khrushchev told him:

"You have rockets. We have rockets. I think ours are better than yours. But for the sake of the argument, let's assume they are equal. Then we have a war and what happens? We put the world in ashes."

Our Paths Are Parallel

"But why should this be done?" Khrushchev said to me. "I simply can't understand the President. "Our paths do not cross," he said. "They follow parallel lines."

Khrushchev has a vivid memory of the last war. Most Russians do, but he not only lost his son but was in the thick of two of the bloodiest fronts at Stalingrad and Kursk which broke the back of German resistance and started their retreat to Berlin. That's one reason he is so passionate in his determination to keep a new military Germany from rising again.

"Another Munich," which is what some Western observers call any signing of a treaty with East Germany, means just the opposite to Khrushchev, and for that matter to all of the people of Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia and many in the Allied countries.

One reason Khrushchev got along so well with Eisenhower was because he remembered Ike's success in driving back the Nazis and his cooperation with Russain generals near the end of the war when friction developed with Field Marshal Montgomery.

This was why Khrushchev was not exaggerating when he said that Eisenhower would have been given the greatest welcome in Soviet history.

I think he was also sincere when he told me: "We want to give the same kind of welcome to Kennedy if we can get the Berlin matter settled."

This is the man Kennedy got off to a wrong start with, but still has to deal with—cold when it comes to calculating the future of his country; yet warmhearted personally; finally a very candid man who will admit his mistakes, who talks frankly about his disputes with Molotov and the old Stalinists, and whom I believe to have been completely frank in telling me what he would or would not do regarding future relations with the United States.

Horrors Of Peace

By John Crosby

STOCKHOLM — If peace ever does break out in the world—and I think we have little to fear from that quarter—I expect this is what we'd all look like. The Swedes, God knows, are a beautiful people—both men and women alike, blond, straight-limbed, well-fed, well-clothed, serene, and perhaps just a little cowlike. The Swedes have known the horrors of peace for almost 150 years, and it has seeped into their personalities.

It's a cud-chewing personality, calm, ruminative, domestic. The difference in personality between, say, a Czech or any middle European — the eyes ever alert, the muscles tensed as if ready to spring into the nearest hole—and a Swede is the difference between an animal in the wild and one who has spent his whole life in a game preserve and knows very well no one is going to shoot. The Swedish gaze is steady, trusting as your spaniel, quiescent.

The Swedes have the highest standard of living in Europe and live in a cradle to grave welfare state. This is far and away the best laboratory experiment we have to study the perils of peace and social progress, and I think the lessons are profoundly misunderstood. No less an eminence than former President Eisenhower spoke of a welfare state — he didn't say it was Sweden but there's little doubt that's what he was talking about — producing nothing but drunkenness, suicide, and what he called immoderate behavior. The Swedes took this with great good nature, rather flattered to be noticed by an American President.

There's no doubt that the Swedes have a juvenile delinquency problem — but then who hasn't?—and that the alcoholism rate is growing (but there are reasons for that), and that the suicide rate is the sixth highest in the world, but Prime Minister Tage Erlander has said there is no connection between any of these things and social welfare. Frankly, I have my own private theory about the Swedish suicide rate which can be summed up in one word: climate. The Swedish climate is great for reindeer and, maybe, for blue spruce. But for humans — no.

"This is what we wait for all winter long, this weather," said a Swede to me, as we watched the rain drumming on a window. "This is summer. But, at least, it's light out. In winter it's dark all the time." In the winter it's cold and dark, in the summer it's cold and wet. No wonder Strindberg was such a sourpuss. No wonder the Swedes admire our own dour Eugene O'Neill so extravagantly. The weather is conducive to black thoughts.

Similarly, the welfare state provokes black theories easily. One theory about the suicide rate is that the welfare state takes such good care of the Swede from the cradle to the grave that when a little setback comes—in love, perhaps—he's so unaccustomed to coping with problems he jumps out a window.

Speaking of the juvenile delinquency problem, some say: "We have taken the adventure out of their lives, so they battle the police or they steal cars."

Actually, the Swedish problem, if it is one, since the Swedes have many blessings, is caused partly by prosperity and neutrality, both considered ideal situations. Prosperity creates its own problems.

Like everyone, the Swedes face a severe housing shortage in spite of the most energetic building program. Today, G. Sidenbladh, town planning director for Stockholm, which has had a town planning department for 300 years, told me that the real shortage in housing was caused only partly by the great movement from the farms to urban centers and only partly by the population growth.

"The real explosion is inside the people. If people were satisfied with the same space they had in 1939, there would be 100,000 unoccupied apartments in Sweden. The growth in human aspirations has caused the shortage."

Prosperity may not be at the root of juvenile delinquency but you will find the worst juvenile delinquency problems in our own country, for instance — in countries that are very prosperous. I spoke to Sven Larsen, psychologist for the prison system, who specializes in the juvenile delinquents, and he said: "Fifteen years ago, we would have ascribed the condition to bad housing or poverty. But after you get rid of the bad housing and the poverty, you discover deeper causes that were at work all along."

Larsen thinks it hopelessly wrong to consider that the welfare state demands less of the individual. It demands, he says, much more. "There are many more demands on the individual than there were in a rural community fifty years ago. An urban society demands an efficent person, a skilled worker, an original thinker. Fifty years ago, it wasn't so dangerous to be peculiar. All towns had a few odd ones. Today, there is a great pressure toward conformity."

Peace and prosperity can be terrible things.

Area Weather Warm, Humid In August

Rainfall Is Below Normal

FROSTBURG—The weather in the Frostburg area during the month of August was mostly cloudy, warm and humid. The mean average daily temperature was 71 degrees, 1.5 degrees above the normal and rainfall only 76 per cent of normal. Considerable cloudiness prevailed the past month, clouds appeared in the sky every day of the month.

C. Walter Hayes, Upper Potomac River Commission weather observer for Frostburg, said precipitation was measured on 11 days of the month for a total of 3.06 inches, which is .97 an inch belowe average. Last August, rainfall here was 1.14 inches.

The first eight months of the year, except January, May, June and August, have had above average precipitation. In January, May, June and August 13.87 inches of precipitation fell, while the average for these months is 15.81 inches.

The average precipitation for the first eight months of the year is 28.88 inches and 36.12 inches are measured.

Except the 1.29 inches of rain that fell in the thunderstorm on August 25, only .33 of an inch of rain fell during the last 19 days of August.

The dryest August of record occurred in 1943, when rainfall was only .54 of an inch.

Mr. Hayes said records kept by C. Amer Suter, local observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau, showed the average maximum temperature for the month was 83 degrees, 1.6 degrees above the average of 81.4 degrees. The average minimum temperature was 59 degrees, 1.4 degrees above the average of 57.6 degrees.

The mean average daily temperature was 71 degrees, 1.5 degrees higher than the normal mean daily average of 69.5 degrees. The mean daily average in August of last year was 71.5 degrees.

August brought the warmest day of the year, when the mercury hit the 91 degree mark on August 31. The temperature ranged 49 degrees, the lowest August temperature being 42 degrees on August 14.

There were five days in which the temperature reached the 85 or higher.

August temperatures in 1960 ranged from a high of 90 degrees to a low of 48, spanning 42 degrees.

The warmest August of record was in 1918, with an average of 74.6 degrees. The temperature on August 7, 1918, of 104 degrees is an all-time record high.

Mayor Baker Says VHF-TV Successful Civic Project

MIDLAND—The VHF Television broadcast translator located on the Clarence Miller farm one mile from Midland is working "most successfully" Mayor Lionel D. Baker said yesterday.

"This is one of the most important civic projects ever undertaken in Midland," he said, "and contributes much to the cultural, social and educational life of the community."

"Good television" he said, "is one of the factors which induce new people to establish homes in a community."

At the present, all of Midland, Gilmore, Ocean and parts of Woodland and Lonaconing benefit from the translator and receive a strong signal.

The community which sponsored the project, at a recent meeting, decided to contact individuals and families who pledged financial assistance, so funds can be collected to pay for the system. If all who pledged the $25 contribution pay their pledges, there will be sufficient funds, the mayor explained, to pay all indebtedness and to add another channel.

A financial statement and report must be filed with the FCC, he explained, before application for additional channels will be considered.

Mayor Baker urges all residents to respond with their pledges as soon as possible, and said he is confident that the pledges will be paid and the system expanded.

Simple creative craft techniques will also be presented, giving teachers an opportunity to work with paper, paste and other materials to gain three-dimensional effects. Rededication Of Confederate Graves Slated

Ike To Officiate At Ceremonies

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — The graves of 2,451 Confederate soldiers — most of them unidentified — will be rededicated Sunday by Dwight D. Eisenhower.

All the Southern troops buried in the small plot here fell at the Battle of the Antietam, the bloodiest single day of fighting in the Civil War. Although northern states contributed money to establish a cemetery for Union troops at Sharpsburg, Md., the Southerners were buried originally where they fell.

In 1877, sufficient funds were raised to move the Confederate dead to Washington Confederate Cemetery here.

Former President Eisenhower will be presented a medallion naming him honorary chairman of the National Civil War Centenniel Commission. Representatives of 10 states and the District of Columbia will be on hand, including Gov. Tawes.

65,566 See Yankees Win Thriller From Tigers In 9th, 1-0

Bill Skowron Gets Winning Hit Off Mossi

Follows Singles By Howard, Berra; Arroyo Cops 12th

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bill Skowron's slashing single to left field with two out in the ninth inning gave the New York Yankees a 1-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers Friday night and increased their lead to 2½ games in the opener of a critical series between the American League's two top contenders.

The defeat was a heart-breaker for sweat-soaked Don Mossi, who blanked the Yankees on five hits in the 90-degree heat until the ninth.

Mossi, suffering his fourth defeat against 14 victories, got Roger Maris on a routine fly ball to right field opening the ninth and then struck out Mickey Mantle. Mossi had seven strikeouts and Mantle accounted for three of them.

Get 3 Hits In Ninth

After Mantle fanned and showed his displeasure by arguing with plate Umpire Joe Paparella, Elston Howard singled to center and Yogi Berra singled to right, sending Howard to third.

Skowron, hitless in three previous times up, worked the count to 1-and-1, then smashed his game-winning single between third baseman Steve Boros and shortstop Chico Fernandez to tally Howard with the only run of the game.

Arroyo Is Victor

Left-hander Luis Arroyo, the third Yankee pitcher, hurled only one inning but was credited with his 12th victory against 3 defeats.

Southpaw Whitey Ford, seeking his 23rd victory, started for the Yankees but was forced to leave during the fifth inning with a strained muscle in his right hip. Ford allowed four of the Tigers' seven hits, including a first-inning triple by Al Kaline with two out that Mantle saved from being a possible inside - the - park homer with a speedy relay back to the infield.

But Daley took over for Ford with one on and two out in the fifth and induced Jake Wood to bounce into an inning - ending forceout. The southpaw knuckle-baller blanked the Tigers through the eighth inning, allowing only three hits before Arroyo took over in the ninth.

65,566 See Battle

A crowd of 65,566 saw the Tigers mount their most serious threat in the eighth off Daley. Bill Bruton walked and advanced to third on Kaline's single, but a fine relay from left fielder Berra cut down Kaline trying to make two bases. Rocky Colavito was purposely passed and Norm Cash fouled out to end the threat.

Power Spoils Harris' Debut

Cleveland Indians Whip Orioles, 5-4

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Vic Power drove in three runs and scored a fourth Friday night to help the Cleveland Indians spoil Luman Harris' managerial debut with the Baltimore Orioles with a 5-4 victory.

Harris was appointed manager of the Orioles for the balance of the season Friday afternoon after Paul Richards decided to resign immediately to take over as general manager of the new Houston club in the National League.

Power got the Indians off to a quick start against loser Chuck Estrada, now 11-8, with a bases loaded single that accounted for the first two runs. The Tribe scored three more times off Estrada in the third.

Power's second straight single scored Jim Piersall, who had walked and moved up on Willie Kirkland's single and a force out. Woodie Held doubled Kirkland across, leaving men on second and third with two out. While Estrada was pitching to Valmy Thomas, Power broke for home and the Oriole righthander committed a balk, allowing the deciding run to score.

Barry Latman, who was touched for three home runs, went the first six innings to pick up his 11th win against four losses. Frank Funk blanked the Orioles over the final three frames without a hit.

Kansas City Owner Hanged In Effigy

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Charles O. Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, was hanged in effigy Friday. A dummy, dressed in a baseball uniform, was found hanging from the overpass on the southwest trafficway. A sign on the dummy read: "What next, Mr. Finley?"

The A's broke a six game losing streak Thursday night by taking a doubleheader from the Los Angeles Angels.

A dispatcher for the police department said other effigies of Finley were also found Friday.

Church Loop Game Halted By Darkness

Darkness yesterday halted the Church Softball League elimination tournament game at Triple Lakes between First Baptist and Cresaptown Methodist with the latter leading 12-11 in the sixth inning.

The teams plan to start all over today at 5 p.m. at Triple Lakes.

Proof that a diamond is nothing but crystallized carbon required real devotion on the part of scientists. In 1772, French chemist Antoine Lavoisier and his colleagues pooled their funds to buy a diamond and proceeded to burn it up. The gas that resulted was carbon dioxide. In 1799, another Frenchman, Guyton de Morveau, furthered the research by converting a diamond into graphite, the form of carbon used in "lead" pencils.

McKinley Cops Opening Match At Forest Hills

Mark And Emerson National Winners

By WILL GRIMSLEY

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Chuck McKinley, the best of America's lean amateur tennis crop, smashed out an easy first-round victory in the National Championships Friday and said he felt his form was "better than at Wimbledon."

The stocky, 20-year-old Davis Cup ace from St. Ann, Mo., needed less than an hour in polishing off George Stoesser, a strapping collegian from Tucson, Ariz., 7-5, 6-2, 6-2. McKinley led a parade of men and women favorites into the second round.

Rod Laver, the bandy-legged lefty from Australia, beat McKinley in straight sets in the final round at Wimbledon. He drew an opening bye here and will not see action until Sunday when he plays Chauncey Steele III of Cambridge, Mass.

Bob Mark Victor

Bob Mark of Australia, seeded No. 5, had too much hitting power on service for 19-year-old Herbert Fitzgibbon of Garden City, N.Y., a Princeton sophomore, 6-2, 6-1, 6-0. Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, No. 8, passed a dangerous obstacle when he ousted Mike Green of Philadelphia, former Davis Cup squad member, 6-4, 6-4, 7-5.

Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., the defending women's champion, won effortlessly from Christine Safford of Lansdowne, Pa., 6-1, 6-2.

Christine Truman, the British Amazon who is seeded No. 4, crushed Elizabeth Crady of Louisville 6-0, 6-0. Yola Ramirez of Mexico, seeded No. 8, defeated the tenth-ranked American player, Carol Hanks of St. Louis, 6-3, 6-2.

Edda Buding, the pretty German fraulein, won over Linda Vail of Oakland, Calif., 6-2, 6-2, and Mrs. Bob Mark beat Nadine Netter of Scarsdale, N.Y., 6-1, 6-1.

Roy Emerson Scores

Roy Emerson, the Australian champion and No. 3 seed, kept the form chart unsullied with a workmanlike 6-2, 6-1, 6-0 triumph over Edward Rubinoff of Miami Beach, Fla.

Mexico's Davis Cup stars, Antonio Palafox and Rafael Osuna, won opening matches, as did Guillermo Hernandez of the Philippines and Miguel Olvera of Ecuador.

Senators Lose 14th Straight

Twilight Contest Won By Chisox, 3-2

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Al Lopez, taking no chances, used five pitchers Friday night to hold off the Washington Senators and give the Chicago White Sox a 3-2, victory in the twilight portion of a night doubleheader.

This was the Senators' 14th straight loss and their second in a row by the same score. The Senators outhit the White Sox, 11-8 but left 11 men on base.

Washington had the tying run on second with one out in the ninth when Juan Pizarro came in to get Gene Woodling on a pop-up and strike out Bud Zipfel.

Cal McLish started and got the victory.

Old Germans Grab Series Opener, 5-2

Denny Knippenberg Beats Wiley Ford

Lefty Denny Knippenberg tossed a two-hitter to give Manager Jim Dunn's Old Germans a 5-2 decision over Wiley Ford yesterday at Naval Reserve Field in the opening games of the best-of-three series for the championship of the Rec Softball League.

The only hits made by Wiley Ford were credited to Paul Stickley, who accounted for both of his team's tallies with a two-run homer in the sixth inning and also had a single. Stickley also featured in centerfield with several nice running catches.

Bill Kenney, Wiley Ford ace, yielded eight hits and struck out four. Two of the safeties were made by Pat Souders who rapped a double and single.

Jerry Loibel at third base and Denny Shuck at short were the Old Germans' fielding stars in the game marked by sparkling defensive play.

Palmer, Pott, Stewart Tied In Dallas Open

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, the year's big tournament winner; Johnny Pott, the defending champion, and Earl Stewart, the home pro, shot three-under par 67s Friday to tie for the first-round lead in the $30,000 Dallas Open.

High winds and rough greens caused the scores to soar generally in the field of 140, with Gary Player, the year's leading money winner, having to settle for a 72.

But a dozen of the tour hotshots clipped par over the 6,800-yard Oak Cliff Country Club course.

Jerry Pittman of Tulsa, Okla., Gene Mitchell Jr. of Lubbock, Tex., and Charles Siford, the first Negro to play in an open tournament in Texas, all posted 68s while veteran Jim Ferrier and Howard Johnson had 69s.

U.S. Walker Cup Golfers Cop 4-0 Lead

Meet British Today In Eight Singles

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

SEATTLE (AP)—British Walker Cup strategy was exploded by a pair of American ancients Friday with the result that the United States swept all four foursome matches and now needs only three of Saturday's eight singles to retain the international amateur golf trophy for another two years.

Bob Cochran, 49, from St. Louis, Mo., and Gene Andrews, 48, of Pacific Palisades, Calif., defeated Mike Bonallack, British amateur champion, and Ronnie Shade, 4 and 3.

Charles Lawrie, captain of the British team, deliberately had paired Bonallack and Shade, his No. 1 towsome, against the two elders making their cup debut in hopes of avoiding the foursome sweep the U.S. engineered in taking the cup for the sixteenth time in 17 previous meetings two years ago.

He also put Jimmy Walker, from Scotland, and Brian Chapman, a newcomer, against the admitted U.S. best, Deane Beman, 23, of Arlington, Va., and Jack Nicklaus, 21, of Columbus, Ohio. The American youngsters slaughtered their foes, 6 and 5, after being 8 up at 27.

The other U.S. triumphs in the foursomes, where the teams use one ball and the players hit alternate shots, were registered by Charles Coe of Oklahoma City, and Don Cherry, the singing Texan, 1 up, over Maj. David Blair and Martin Christmas; and Bob Gardner of New York and Bill Hyndman of Philadelphia, over Joe Carr of Ireland and Gordon Huddy, former Cambride ace, 4 and 3.

CCC Mixed Scotch Foursome Tourney Ends In Deadlock

Richard Winer and Mrs. J. T. Mason tied John Johnson and Mrs. Fuller B. Whitworth for first place in the Mixed Scotch Foursome Golf Tournament yesterday at the Cumberland Country Club by posting net 30s for the nine hole test.

Three twosomes tied for runner-up honors with 31s were John Wilson and Mrs. Jack Arch, William Carscaden and Mrs. Charles Herath and John Tucker Mason and Mrs. Richard Winer.

Four twosomes were deadlocked with 32s, namely, Bill George and Mrs. Mort Schaidt, Dr. Donald Grove and Mrs. Charles Helmrich, Bill George and Mrs. William Ryan and Henry Johnson and Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie.

The prize for low putts went to Dave Sigel and Mrs. Howard B. Wood with 14. A special prize was awarded to Dave Miller and Mrs. Walter Brock.

Senators Break Loss String, 5-1

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Senators broke a 14-game losing streak Friday night by defeating the Chicago White Sox 5-1, after dropping the opener of a doubleheader, 3-2.

A couple of streaks were shattered in the second game in which the Senators got 13 hits including three triples.

Rookie Joe McClain, who had lost eight straight and hadn't won since July 7, finally got back into the victory column. He went all the way on a six-hitter. McClain helped himself with a double and a single and scored two runs.

Willie Tasby climbed out of the doghouse by getting a triple and driving in a run. Tasby and Gene Green had been benched by Washington President Pete Quesada for allegedly failing to hustle. Green got a triple and a single.

Billy Pierce was the second game victim. He left after giving up two runs in six innings. Turk Lown gave up two more and Russ Kemmerer the last run. Roy Sievers hit his 25th homer in the nightcap.

"Tex" Elkins' Horses Will Race At Fairgo

Georgian Sending 12 From Waterford; Won Here In 1957

Walker T. "Tex" Elkins, of Georgia, who won two races with Chased Again here in 1957, advised Harry J. Barton, general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association, yesterday that he is sending 12 horses to Fairgo for the 12-day race meeting which gets under way, Monday, September 11, at the local half miler.

The Elkins string of thoroughbreds are being sent to Cumberland from the Waterford Race Track in West Virginia.

General Manager Barton recalled Elkins' visit here four years ago when his Chased Again won two races in three days. On the tenth day of the meeting, Chased Again beat Bernley and returned $42.40 for $2 and two days later Elkins' router won over Navy Brat and paid $9.20. Both races were over one mile and a sixteenth and the winning jockeys were Floyd Green on Thursday and Joe Servis on Saturday.

Perishes In Flames

Chased Again, incidentally, perished in a van blaze while being shipped to the Waterford track. Two other horses owned by Elkins also died in the flames when the van caught fire about four miles from the track.

Navy Brat, holder of the Fairgo track record for a mile and five-sixteenths, set in 1957, and loser to Chased Again, died in a stable fire at Marlboro in 1958.

Elkins has raced this year at Sunshine Park and Gulfstream Park in Florida and Waterford, W.Va.

Renew Memorial Race

He also stated that the Edgar "Buck" Reynolds Memorial Race will be held for the fifth year. This race was named in memory of the former general manager of the local association who was killed along with his wife, Helen, in 1954 when their car was struck by a train on the Fairgo crossing.

The starting gate which was used at the recent Bel Air meet arrived at Fairgo yesterday.

The win was Jackson's 11th for the season. He struck out four Pirates and walked none to retire 10 batters in a row during one stretch.

White extended his hitting streak to 13 games, even though he was felled in the first inning when struck on the helmet by one of Gibbon's pitches.

Gibbon was charged with his ninth setback in 19 decisions. Burgess connected for his 11th home run of the season with a man on in the ninth inning.

Angels Trim Kansas City

Only 1,646 Fans See A's Bow, 6-4

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Angels exploded for five runs on six consecutive hits in the fourth inning Friday to propel them to a 6-4 victory over the Kansas City Athletics before 1,646 fans—smallest crowd of the year at Wrigley Field.

Norman Bass started on the mound for the Athletics and had given up only one hit until the fourth. He also was coasting on a 2-0 lead.

But Bass was driven to the showers when the Angels got five straight singles off him and Ed Sadowski hit a double off relief pitcher Bill Fischer. This was the 10th loss of the season against seven wins for Bass.

Tom Morgan turned in another fine relief job for the Angels after he replaced starter Eli Grba in the fifth. Morgan held the Athletics to three hits and held them scoreless while earning his seventh victory against two defeats. Morgan now has an earned run average of 2.60 and has five saves to his credit.

Steve Bilko joined the daily home run parade at his homer happy field when he hit his 18th of the year over the left center field wall in the fifth. A total of 211 homers now have been hit at Wrigley, far surpassing the previous American League mark of 200 in a season at one ballpark.

Romney High School's Pioneers scored touchdowns in the first and final quarters yesterday to defeat Berkeley Springs High School's Indians by the score of 12-7 in the opening game of the football season in the tri-state area at Romney.

Coach Roger Parker's team took the opening kickoff and marched 66 yards in 12 plays for the initial score, Keith Harness, fullback, going over from the four for the touchdown. Jim Alkire's kick for the extra point was wide.

In the fourth quarter, Kenny Ayers made it 12-0 when he scored from the 11 to climax a 40-yard drive. Alkire's try from placement was blocked.

Berkeley Springs averted a shutout in the final stanza when a 45-yard pass play executed by Barney and Farris produced the Indians' six-pointer. Lutman ran the extra point.

Romney is scheduled to play Charles Town High School on the latter's field next Saturday at 1:30 p. m.

Giants Edge Cubs In 14 Innings, 4-3

Bowman's Triple Decides Contest

CHICAGO (UPI)—Ernie Bowman tripled after a disputed call on a pitch in the 14th inning Friday to score Joe Amalfitano and give the San Francisco Giants a 4-3 win over the Chicago Cubs.

Cubs pitcher Don Elston believed he had struck out Bowman on the previous pitch and prolonged an argument after the side had been retired. Umpire Ken Burkhart threw him out of the game.

Elston, the fourth Cubs pitcher, suffered his sixth loss.

The win went to Billy Loes, the sixth San Francisco hurler, who worked only 1 1-3 innings. But he saved a chance to win when he got Ed Bouchee on a pop fly with two out and the bases loaded after taking over from Dom Zanni in the 13th.

The Giants overcame a three-run Chicago lead to send the game into overtime, scoring once in the sixth, the seventh and the eighth innings.

Harvey Kuenn hit his fourth homer in the sixth. A walk, two infield singles and a double play grounder scored another in the seventh. In the eighth, a walk, an error on a force-out, and Ed Bailey's single produced a tally.

Elston struck out Jose Pagan and Loes to open the 14th, but Amalfitano singled to set the stage for Bowman's winning hit.

All Chicago runs came in the second inning on homers. Andre Rodgers got his sixth with George Altman on base, and Cuno Barriagan belted in his first time at bat in the majors.

Rain Stops Vets And Casey Series; Play Again Tuesday

Rain stopped the fourth game of the best-of-five final playoff series in the Rocking Chair Softball League between Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Knights of Columbus yesterday at Stitcher Field and the teams will resume their series on Tuesday at 6 p.m. at the same place.

The Vets, who hold a 2-1 lead in the series, were leading 1-0 when Jupe Pluvius put in his appearance in the third inning. The teams will start all over on Tuesday.

Pete Elliott was on the mound for the Vets and Al Sheetz was the K. of C. hurler.

The V.F.W. scored in the first inning when Ted Durbin singled, Elliott sacrificed and Vern Penner came through with a timely base hit.

In Tuesday's game the Vets need a win to make a sweep of the pennant and playoffs for the fourth consecutive year.

Steelers Meet Browns Tonight

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Steelers ran through drills Friday at the Akron Rubber Bowl, scene of their pre-season game against the Cleveland Browns.

The teams clash Saturday night in the fourth exhibition game for each. Each has won two games and both were defeated by the Detroit Lions in pre-season clashes.

Rich Futurity On Tap Today At Arlington

Carry Back Runs At Belmont Today

By The Associated Press

Saturday's race program will be topped by the $100,000 added Washington Park Futurity at Arlington Park and the first major test in the comeback of Carry Back at Belmont Park.

Carry Back, winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness who suffered a leg injury in the Belmont Stakes, made his first start since that event in a 7-furlong race at Atlantic City last Saturday, defeating a field of older horses.

He gets his real test Saturday in the $50,000 added Jerome Handicap, a one-mile gallop for three-year-olds.

The Jerome reopens the battle for 3-year-old honors, with Beau Prince, winner of the American Derby at Chicago and the Travers Stakes at Saratoga expected to give Carry Back stern competition.

Nine will go to the post for the rich Washington Park Futurity, with the winner's share about $132,500 if all start.

The probable favorite is Ridan, winner of six consecutive races.

Challenging Ridan for the 6½ furlong race will be Eight Ball, runnerup to Ridan in the Prairie Stakes Aug. 21, Obey, Su Kaw Wa, Wa-Wa-Cy, Admiral's Voyage, in Force, Gutter Ball and Affray.

Flake And Roeder Advance In Doubles

Ronnie Groff advanced to the finals in the men's division and Betty Flake and Sandra Roeder earned a finals berth in the women's doubles yesterday by winning matches in the Allegany County Tennis Tournament on the Garlitz courts.

Groff eliminated Johnny Byrd in straight sets, 6-0, 6-0, and will play the winner of the Bill Day-Bob Williams match for the singles championship. Day is the defending champion.

Betty Flake and Sandra Roeder disposed of Ann Madden and Cheryl Pence, 6-1, 6-1, to reach the finals.

Bob Williams and Jimmy Twigg moved to the semi-final round in the men's doubles by eliminating Jay and Allan Kaplon, 6-4, 6-1.

Fight In Florida

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Carlos Ortiz and Douglas Valliant, second and third contenders for the lightweight boxing championship in Ring Magazine ratings, will meet in a 10-rounder at the Miami Beach Auditorium Saturday night.

Ortiz is an 8-5 favorite to win the fight, which will be nationally televised starting at 9 p. m. (EST).

BIRDS' MANAGER — Coach Luman Harris, 46, above, was named interim manager of the Baltimore Orioles yesterday after Paul Richards resigned. Richards is expected to sign shortly as general manager of the new Houston club that will join the National League in 1962. (AP Photofax)

Orioles Name Luman Harris As New Pilot

Coach Will Serve Remainder Of Year

BALTIMORE (AP)—A baseball era ended in Baltimore Friday as Manager Paul Richards hung up his No. 12 Oriole uniform to become general manager of the new Houston team in the National League.

Oriole officials announced after a conference with Richards that his resignation was being accepted immediately "in the best interests of everyone concerned."

Harris Is Successor

Richards announced his resignation as Baltimore's $50,000-a-year manager on Tuesday but it had been expected he would finish out the season here.

Coach Luman Harris was named interim manager for the remainder of the season.

Richards is expected to sign a five-year contract at $60,000 or more a year with the Houston Colts, who will join the expanded National League next year.

With Birds Seven Years

He is ending 16 years in the American League—7 with the Orioles—just when many observers believe he was on the threshold of having a championship team.

Coming here from the Chicago White Sox in 1955, he took over a seventh-place team that had lost 300 games in three years. His development of the Orioles into a second-place-team last season won him the 1960 manager of the year award.

The Orioles are third this year, and many forcasters expect the young club to be a contender for years to come.

The 52-year-old Texan came here as both general manager and field boss. He held the dual role until 1959 when Lee Macphail joined the Orioles from the New York Yankee organization.

Contests Set At Frostburg And Hyndman

Barrelville Plays Moorefield Today For Third Place

Playoffs are scheduled to get under way in the Pen-Mar Baseball League Sunday and the pairings for the best-of-three semifinal series will depend on the outcome of today's battle for third place between the Moorefield All-Stars and the Barrelville Old Exports at Mt. Savage at 2:30 p.m.

The extra game was necessitated when Moorefield and Barrelville wound up the regular campaign tied for third place with 16-12 records.

Barrelville has beaten Moorefield three times, 4-3, 5-1 and 4-3 while dropping one game by the forfeit route.

Sites Are Selected

Regardless of which team wins today's game sites for the playoff openers Sunday will be at Hyndman and Frostburg at 2:30 p.m.

The winner of the Moorefield-Barrelville game will play at Hyndman while the loser of today's contest will play at Frostburg.

The playing sites will be reversed for the second games of the series on Labor Day at 2:30 p.m.

If Game Is Postponed

If rain washes out today's game it will be rescheduled for Sunday and the opening of the playoffs will be delayed until Labor Day.

Hyndman (20-9) won the pennant and Frostburg finished in the runner-up spot with 19 wins and nine losses.

Moorefield has lost three of four games to Hyndman and the latter holds a 3-1 edge in its series with Barrelville. Frostburg has taken three of four from Moorefield and dropped three of four contests to Barrelville.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Grain futures held within narrow price limits in slow preholiday trading Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed off ⅛ to up ⅛, corn off ⅜ to ⅝, oats unchanged to up ½, rye off ¼ to up ¾ and soybeans off ¼ to ¾.

The long holiday weekend and a strike against 13 local grain elevators made traders cautious. The walkout began Friday morning over a wage dispute, and reports said soybeans were prevented from being shipped into Chicago warehouses.

Wheat declined slightly under September liquidation and good crop reports. Local traders bought, and northwest interests sold December. The September and March deliveries made new lows for the season.

Oats were also affected by September liquidation. Elevator houses bought September and sold December at 5¼ cents difference.

Rye had little feature.

The old soybean delivery firmed early on the strike news, but selling quickly increased. Trading was mixed. Dealers watched both the labor reports and comments on soybean harvesting. Heavy 1961 production was still in prospect.

Exporters said West Germany took 540,000 bushels of durum wheat. Britain bought 500,000 bushels of corn and Italy and Japan took a total of 220,000 bushels of soybeans.

Outside markets were mostly higher.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Try The Graceful Exit

An advertising executive told me at lunch yesterday an interesting story of his first meeting with his wife. She applied to him for a copywriting job, and he was impressed both with her attractiveness and her air of competence as she entered his office for the interview.

"That first look created a wonderful impression, John," said my friend. "But it was the last look that really sold me. When Anne left my office, she was so pleasant and composed — even though I'd had to tell her the job was already filled — that I knew I wanted to see her again. When we did meet at a party shortly after the interview, I was certain she was the one girl for me!"

What made Anne seem so different? Her air of complete assurance and composure, declared my friend. She practiced, and still does, one of the Powers Girls' rules for making an impression: Know what you are going to do before you do it . . . your entrance is important; your exit, even more, is the thing that's remembered.

To cross any threshold with confidence, take these simple precautions: Before you leave home, dress and groom yourself to the peak of self-satisfaction. Then forget your appearance, so that once you arrive your thoughts are free to focus on others present. En route, rehearse in your mind what you will do as you enter—whether you are entering a party or a business conference.

A gracious exit is equally, or more, desirable. Let your sense of timing be your guide as to the proper moment to leave the party, the meeting, or the interview. Say "thank you" if that courtesy is called for, then make your adieus sincerely and unhurriedly — but make them definite. The longer you hesitate, the more difficult and strained conversation will become.

Doors are not designed as leaning posts, or as the setting for elaborate farewells. They are the means for a graceful and dignified exit. The more graceful the exit, the more favorable the impression you leave behind. You never know how great the rewards that impression will bring!

Shrivers Retain Officers

In a brief business session at the 26th annual Shriver reunion, it was decided to retain the present officers for another year and to meet next year August 19 at the same place, Providence picnic grounds, W. Va. A donation of $35 was made to the Providence church for two new picnic tables.

William E. Shriver, Cumberland, is president; Douglas McKee, Martinsburg, vice president; and Miss Mary Ruth Quinn, Martinsburg, secretary-treasurer.

A welcome was extended by the president and Rev. D. A. Frazier offered the invocation. Following a picnic dinner, there was group singing, a duet by Mrs. Charles Shriver and Mrs. Emory Shriver and one by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Payne; the Butts sisters sang a hymn and Rev. Ernest Shriver, a solo. Karen Shriver gave a recitation. Accompanists were Mrs. Russell Crawford at the organ and Mrs. Ernest Shriver on the accordion.

A memorial service was conducted by Rev. Ernest Shriver for Anna Sheppard Cross, Alcy Cave, Sr., James Raleigh Shriver, Retha Mae Shriver and Rosa Pat Barnart Shriver.

Novelty planters were presented to Mrs. Ida S. Haderer, the oldest woman present; John P. Shriver, the oldest man; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Silver, having the largest family; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Shriver, from Missouri, coming the greatest distance, and Rodney Payne Catlett, the youngest child.

All children received favors of candy, gum and balloons. Entertainment consisted of badminton, horseshoe pitching, soft ball, swinging and other playground equipment and reminiscing. It closed with the group singing, "God Be With You 'till We Meet Again," and benediction by Rev. Sheesley.

Registration was under the direction of Miss Wilma Butts and Mrs. Sally Sharp. Rev. Ernest Shriver and Donald Shriver were in charge of the loud speaker equipment. Some 167 attended.

Bridge Winners Are Announced

With a score of 142 playing North-South, where the average was 121½, Mrs. Gerard Everstine and Miss Louise Zihlman topped the field in the Western Maryland Bridge Association game. It was played Thursday evening at the Cumberland Country Club, with 10½ tables in play.

Other North-South winners were Mrs. Arthur Friedland, Theodore Gray, 137½; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Trimmier, 126½; Mrs. Samuel Dezen and Richard Schwab, 125½.

East-West winners were Mrs. Norman Taylor, Mrs. Madeline Mewshaw, 118; Mrs. Ray Goetz, Mrs. Louis Waingold, 116½; Mrs. George Bottorf, J. D. Paddleford, 113; Dr. and Mrs. Richard Winer, 109½.

The regular game of the Potomac Valley Bridge Club will be played Tuesday at 8 p.m., at the Woman's Civic Club house.

Equity Suits Filed

Two equity suits were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills were entitled Helen Y. George vs. Harold R. George and Abraham Warhaft vs. Alice Jean Warhaft.

MAUSBY W. ROGERS

Band Director Is Named At Fort Hill

Fort Hill High School will get a new band director as a result of the promotion of Robert O. Nutter to instrumental music instructor in the elementary schools, Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of Allegany County schools, announced yesterday.

Nutter takes over the position held by Harry Malcolm, who retired in June.

Nutter's successor at Fort Hill as senior and junior band director and instrumental music instructor will be Mausby William Rogers, 54 North Davis Street, Keyser.

Rogers has been instrumental music teacher and director of the band at Elk Garden High School for seven years. Prior to that he taught at Kingwood, Preston County.

He was graduated from Bruce High School, Westernport, in 1944, and received his bachelor of music degree from West Virginia University in 1955. He has done graduate work at West Virginia.

Rogers is married to the former Miss Patricia Athey and the couple has one son.

Nutter, who has 17 years teaching experience, came to Fort Hill in the fall of 1955.

Since that time, until his new position was announced, he taught junior and senior band in the afternoons, and instrumental music in a number of elementary schools, including Penn Avenue School, in the mornings.

He received his bachelor's degree from Fairmont State College and his master's degree from West Virginia University. In addition, he has attended courses at University of Michigan, and belongs to a number of professional music organizations.

Nutter, who lives at 417 Piedmont Avenue, will have Cumberland area schools.

Seeks Site For CD Siren

A recommendation by William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense that a large siren be erected at the rear of the playground at old Cumberland Street School, was rejected yesterday by Allegany County Board of Commissioners. The commissioners plan to discuss the matter with Mr. Barger.

The civil defense director said in his letter to the commissioners that the siren which provided coverage for downtown Cumberland was removed from its location near Fayette Street when the parking lot of St. Paul's Lutheran Church was paved. It has been in storage since that time because reinstallation on Prospect Square was frowned upon by residents of that area, according to Mr. Barger.

Stating that the siren should be erected on county property, he recommended that it be mounted on a single pole at the rear of the playground of the old Cumberland Street School which is now used by the County Welfare Department. The siren would not be an eyesore and would provide the same coverage as before, Mr. Barger concluded.

Local Man Given Jail Sentence

Raymond F. Iser, this city, yesterday was ordered committed to the County Jail for 100 days for violating the terms of his parole.

Magistrate F. Allen Weatherholt ordered Iser jailed yesterday after he found him guilty of violating the terms of a parole imposed at a hearing in Trial Magistrate Court on July 19.

At that time Magistrate Weatherholt suspended the jail sentence and Iser was admitted to a Veterans Administration hospital. However Iser left the VA hospital without being discharged and returned to Cumberland. He also failed to keep several other parole terms.

Sheetz Will Speak, Play At YFC Event

Tri-State Youth For Christ will present J. W. Sheetz as speaker and musician tonight. Mr. Sheetz has played the saxophone in London, Paris, Broadway and with big name bands.

He is now engaged in evangelism and youth work and is associated with Christian Business Men's Committee International.

The rally begins at 7:45 p. m. A college "back-to-school" reception will follow.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith and daughters, Linda and Diana, Washington, are visiting her mother, Mrs. William Heavner, 430 Virginia Avenue. Mrs. Arthur Christian and her daughter, Washington, also are visiting her grandmother.

Suzanne Weatherholt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Weatherholt, Mt. Pleasant Road, is a surgical patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

Mrs. Robert Lucas, Herndon, Va., is convalescing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lucas, Sr., 817 Fayette Street, following surgery at Memorial Hospital.

Bid Accepted

Allegany County Commissioners yesterday accepted the bid of George Construction Company of $3400 for removal of the existing veranda and construction of a new porch on the Allegany County Library annex.

Perry Is Given

City, Mo., and is a graduate of the Missouri School of Mines with a Bachelor of Science degree in mechanical engineering. He joined PPG in 1949 at Works Nine in Crystal City.

He worked in the engineering offices at the Pittsburgh General Offices in 1956 and was transferred to the Cumberland plant in September 1956 as assistant superintendent in the grinding and polishing department.

In 1959 he was appointed to the position of assistant to the general manager of plate glass plants in Pittsburgh, and in August 1960 returned here as assistant to Walter E. Dyck, who is presently plant manager.

Mr. Perry and his wife, Betty Rose, have four daughters and a son and are presently residing at 836 Windsor Road. They plan to move to Creighton as soon as suitable housing can be found.

Lonaconing Girl Bakes Best Md. Cherry Pie

Wins 4-H Honors At State Fair

By TOM SEPPY

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP)—A 12-year-old Allegany County girl, competing in her first state-wide contest Friday, was named Maryland's 4-H cherry pie baking champion.

Susan Steiding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Steiding, of Lonaconing, Md., won a silver bowl and the grand champion blue ribbon for her cherry pie demonstration at the 80th annual Maryland State Fair.

The 8th-grade Valley High School student, who says she used "a recipe from a 'Let's Cook' book and the back of a cherry pie can" has been baking that type of pie for two years.

Although she has entered cherry pies and biscuits in 4-H contests in Western Maryland, Susan said, "This was the first time I had ever competed in a state-wide contest."

Susan, representing the Western Maryland district, took the grand champion title in a baking demonstration against four other girls.

Her competitiors and the districts they represented were: Rose Bell, 13, of Vienna, lower Eastern Shore; Janet Mench, 15, of Elkton, central Maryland, and Diane Brown, 16, of Denton, upper Eastern Shore.

Miss Charlotte Conway, associate State 4-H director, said, "The girls gained state-wide finals by winning their individual districts. The district champions were picked from county titlists.

"Susan had to defeat more than 20 girls to get the grand champion blue ribbon," Miss Conway said.

Earlier, Anthony S. Abban, an official in the Ghana Ministry of Agriculture, and his sister, Miss Elizabeth Abban, visited the fair to study the operation of such an event.

He said Queen Elizabeth would visit Ghana around Nov. 10, and the Gold Coast county would like to hold an agricultural fair for her.

Phillip Muritz of Washington County won the Champion state-wide 4-H tractor-operators' title in a contest with 18 other entrants. Muritz will represent Maryland in the Eastern States competition at Richmond Sept. 26.

Goldstein Cites Pupil Cost In Garrett Talk

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein spoke last night at a meeting of the Garrett County Bus Operators Association and pointed out the cost per pupil in Garrett County is below the average for the state.

Mr. Goldstein spoke to the association at a meeting at Northern High School and said the current cost per pupil in Garrett County is $319.64, while the state average is $33.79. He also pointed out the average cost in Allegany County was $311.05, also below the state average.

The state comptroller also said he expects the cost of education to rise rapidly in the next 10 years. One of the reasons of the increase, he said, is the continuing demand for salary increases by teachers.

Another reason for the higher cost is the expanding state population and this results in the need of additional equipment, supplies and more teachers, Mr. Goldstein added.

In 1960 there were 581,093 students in the state and by 1962 estimates call for approximately 636,000 pupils, and this will mean additional funds, the comptroller said.

Mr. Goldstein pointed out that maintenance and operation of all public schools accounts for 52 per cent of the budgets of Maryland counties.

He concluded by saying Maryland distributed $99,601,224 in state funds to political sub-divisions for the fiscal year ending last June 30.

Traffic Heavy As Weekend Holiday Starts

Both State Police and City Police last night reported heavy traffic movement as many motorists started off on the long holiday weekend.

State Police at LaVale reported traffic moved through LaVale nearly bumper-to-bumper during the early part of the evening and two accidents involving six cars caused additional holdups on U.S. Route 40 in LaVale.

Trooper Richard J. Graham investigated an accident at 6:40 p.m. at Crystal Park involving four cars in a chain collision. No one was injured, but Trooper Graham said property damage to the vehicles was an estimated $1,800.

Two automobiles operated by Monte D. Pistoresi, Chawchilla, Calif., and Frank D. Warner, 410 Hill Street, were stopped for traffic when a car operated by Elna B. McKenzie, 73 Ormond Street, Frostburg, hit the Warner car and pushed it into the Pistoresi auto. A fourth car driven by Donald J. Childs, Baltimore, then collided into the rear of the McKenzie vehicle.

Tfc. Joseph V. Stakem also investigated a minor two-car collision near the spot where the four-car crash occurred. Tfc. Stakem said no one was hurt and only property damage was reported.

City Police said traffic also was heavy through the city and officers had to be sent to certain points to help keep the flow of cars moving.

Safe-Teen Unit Urges Safety Over Holiday

The Golden Rule is still the best traffic safety rule, according to Eileen Wilson, president of Cumberland Chapter 377, Safe-Teen.

The Labor Day weekend with its expected heavy toll of deaths and injuries on the nation's streets and highways has produced a large volume of advice and warning material from traffic safety experts and law enforcement officers.

Safe-Teen heartily endorses the advice given, but believes that too many "don'ts" are not a psychologically sound approach to traffic safety. Miss Wilson offered the Safe-Teen slogan as a drivers guide on this holiday, as well as everyday driving, "We drive courteously, defensively and longer."

Two Graduates Appointed Assistant Principals

Graduates of Fort Hill and Beall high schools have been appointed assistant principals of the two schools effective with the start of the new term next week, Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster announced yesterday.

Joseph P. Martirano, 270 East Main Street, Frostburg, has been named to the newly-created position of assistant principal at Beall High School. Dr. Wayne Hill, the principal at Beall, previously had no assistant.

Mr. Martirano is in the unique position of having had virtually all of his education and all of his teaching experience in Frostburg. A 1943 graduate of Beall High School, he did not complete his studies at Frostburg State Teachers College until 1950, after World War II. He did take some courses at California (Pa.) State Teachers College and received his master's degree from West Virginia University in 1955.

His first two years of teaching were at Beall Elementary School. He has been on the faculty at Beall High School since September 1952. His subjects last year were mathematics and business arithmetic. This will be his 12th year of teaching experience. He also has served as president of the Beall High School Alumni Association.

JOSEPH P. MARTIRANO

EDGAR W. REYNOLDS

Edgar W. Reynolds, 615 Louisiana Avenue, has been named as the new assistant principal at Fort Hill High School. He will be the third assistant principal in as many semesters at Fort Hill. John R. McVicker, 417 Louisiana Avenue, had served as assistant principal under Principal Victor D. Heisey for a number of years until Mr. Webster named him principal at Oldtown High School at the beginning of the second semester.

David A. LaFon, 814 Ashland Avenue, was named to succeed Mr. McVicker as assistant principal. He obtained summer employment at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory and liked the work so much he resigned his assistant principalship to take full-time employment at ABL.

Mr. Reynolds was graduated from Fort Hill High School in 1949. He completed his first two years of collegiate education at Potomac State College in Keyser in 1951 and received his A.B. degree from West Virginia University in 1953. Two years later he obtained his master's degree at West Virginia.

A science teacher, he has been on the Fort Hill High School faculty since September 1957. This will be his fifth year of experience.

He is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edgar H. Reynolds, who were killed in the summer of 1954 at the Fairgo crossing of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. His father had been a member of City Council and was serving as superintendent of the Cumberland Fair at the time of his death.

Women Voters Meet Tuesday

The first of the Cumberland unit meetings of the Provisional League of Women Voters of Allegany County will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the council chamber of City Hall here.

Topic for discussion will be the county survey project. Mrs. Betty VanNewkirk, county survey chairman, has asked that members who investigated some of the unincorporated areas of Allegany County to bring the results of their investigation to the meeting.

A similar meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday, September 12, in the library of Lowndes Hall, Frostburg State Teachers College. The unit leader for Cumberland is Mrs. Pat Sokolowski and for Frostburg, Mrs. Mary Zimmerman.

The unit meetings are open to anyone who is interested in league work. Each member or prospective member may select whichever unit meeting she wishes to attend. The division into two groups has been made for the convenience of members and to insure a group small enough to allow each member to participate actively in discussion.

Attendance Record High For Schools

95.3 Per Cent Rating Last Year

As Allegany County public schools prepare for the start of another year next Wednesday, Homer S. Higgins, county supervisor of pupil personnel, pointed out yesterday that the average attendance during the 1960-61 school year was 95.3 per cent.

Mr. Higgins said he thought that was a good record in view of the bad winter and the occurrence of a considerable illness during the school year.

Junior high schools of the county averaged 96.5 per cent, combined junior-senior high schools averaged 95.4 per cent and elementary schools recorded 95.1 per cent in the past school year.

Last year, a total of 16,815 different pupils attended public schools of the county. With quite a few newcomers to the county since June, Mr. Higgins is anticipating an enrollment of more than 17,000 pupils.

During the 1960-61 school year, there were some 1,030 withdrawals for different reasons. Of that number 361 left the county and only 166 quit school upon reaching the age of 16 when they legally can do so.

Offsetting the dropouts was the addition of 786 pupils who came into the county system during the school year.

Mr. Higgins reminded parents yesterday that all pupils are required to be successfully vaccinated before admission to school. The only exception is that some few pupils might have some particular reason why they cannot be vaccinated at this time. If so, they must submit a certificate from their physician or the County Health Department.

The Health Department will conduct a vaccination clinic from 1 until 4 p.m. next Wednesday at the Union Street County Building for those children who have not yet been vaccinated.

There will be only a half day of school on both Wednesday and Thursday with the first full day planned on Friday of next week.

Appeal Is Granted

The Board of Zoning Appeals has approved the application of Ernest P. Ruppert, 1018 Shades Lane, to build a partly enclosed carport at his home.

County School Principals, Staffs Meet

Guidance Services To Be Expanded

All Allegany County high school and elementary principals and members of supervising staffs held separate meetings yesterday at the Board of Education offices on Washington Street. They were welcomed by Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools.

Personnel problems were discussed at the meeting of high school principals yesterday afternoon.

Richard T. Rizer, assistant supervisor of schools, told the group that all high school positions have been filled. He said there had been 40 changes in the teaching status of the various schools, ten at Allegany; 10 at Fort Hill; three at Beall, six at Valley, three at Bruce, two each at Mount Savage and Flintstone; three at Oldtown and one at Cresaptown.

29 Additions

Twenty-nine teachers have been added to the county system, 18 with previous experience and 11 who will be teaching for the first time.

Guidance service will be expanded in the county system this year. Fort Hill will have two counselors, Ralph Lammert and Mrs. Chase Morgan; Allegany, one and a half, John Snyder, Mrs. Patricia Butts, formerly of Mount Savage, and Paul J. Cuba, part time; Beall, one and a half, Miss Jane H. Grindel, with John D. Kelly added on part time; Valley, James D. Preaskorn, full time guidance counselor, formerly part time; Bruce, Mrs. Katherine Fahey, full time and Mt. Savage, Richard Pomeroy, full time.

Mr. Rizer reported on results of a science workshop conducted this summer. He stated that three courses have been completed for grades seven, eight and nine. All science teachers will meet Thursday at 2 p. m. at Allegany High School at which time they will be given workbooks and instructions for their use will be outlined.

Each supervisor made brief reports on areas they represent. They were, Miss Ruth C. McColly, home economics; LaVern J. Hahn, music; J. D. Lonnholm, industrial arts; Jack A. Petry, high schools in general; Homer S. Higgins, special services; Theodore P. Foote, art; Robert E. Pence, physical education, and J. Hubert Radcliffe, transportation.

Invitation From Heisey

Victor D. Heisey, principal of Fort Hill High School extended an invitation to the principals to meet at his cottage near Lake Gordon for the next professional meeting. The invitation was accepted and it was decided to hold the meeting September 19 at 3 p. m.

At yesterday morning's meeting of elementary principals, B. Melvin Cole, director of elementary education for Baltimore County discussed Problems Which Administrators Face In Preparing Children for Tomorrow.

He based his talk on ten points, development of professional competence; keeping curricula program modern; a sound program for the gifted as well as the handicapped and retarded children; reward of confidence in teachers; the dangers of emphasis on rote learning; developing skill in reviewing educational materials; need for experimentation on the part of leaders; identifying major issues which face our society and living normal wholesome lives.

New principals were introduced by Mr. Webster at the meeting which was attended by 28 principals, two coordinating principals and the supervisory staff.

Power Line Burns Down In Storm

Power service in the Oldtown section was interrupted for several hours last night after a span of wire in a transmission wire leading to the Oldtown substation burned down during an early evening thunderstorm.

The line went out about 7 p.m. as a result of the storm and was believed to have been caused by a bolt of lightning.

Three substations, one at Oldtown and two beyond, were thrown out of service.

The Oldtown station was put back into service by switching to a line from Romney. Potomac Edison Company line crews from here hoped to have the other two stations back into service by 10 p. m.

No other trouble was reported from the storm, according to Garland L. Johnston, district manager.

About 175 cars were parked at the Starlite drive-in theatre when the power went off. Because of the failure there was no show and their money was refunded.

Man Is Sentenced For Non-Support

Don Wilson Begins 28th Benny Year

To those of us who are at least 39 years old, perennially so as Jack Benny or not, the radio broadcast of the 1930 Rose Bowl Game can well be remembered. This great annual sports event was being brought "live" to every corner of the United States via one of radio's pioneer networks.

At the microphone was radio's greatest announcer, the late Graham MacNamee. However, how many remember that assisting Graham MacNamee in the play-by-play description that day in 1930 was none other than Don Wilson.

Most people think of Don only as the fat, joival announcer on "The Jack Benny Program." Since he is embarking on the 28th year as Jack's announcer both on radio and television, it is quite understandable that his other activities in the early days of radio are almost forgotten.

"I certainly had no idea this job would last so long," Don quirks.

'Frontier Circus' Debut Scheduled This Fall

A new hour filmed series, "Frontier Circus," will make its debut in the Fall on CBS-TV. The series will not be primarily concerned with the "show folk" of the circus itself, but with those people whose lives crossed the Frontier Circus.

Chill Wills, John Derek and Richard Jaeckel will be seen as regulars on the series. Top name guest stars will also be seen in each episode — appearing in shows already filmed have been Dan Duryea, Dick York, Aldo Ray, James Gregory, Brian Keith, Mickey Rooney, Eddie Albert and Rip Torn.

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands, (AP)—Circus owner Tony Boltini said Sheik Hamed Ben Abdullah al Kalifa of Bahrain has hired the entire show to perform at his 46th birthday party Nov. 25. Four planes will transport 115 performers and workmen, horses, bears, camels, llamas and elephants to the sheik's Persian Gulf estate.

Girl Breaks Out In Rash When She Gets Near Boys

LONDON (AP) — As soon as Jane Reeve, 11, a British schoolgirl, gets near a boy, she breaks out in a rash.

But she's been told by educational authorities that in the new term beginning this month, she must attend a coeducational school.

"I've been to a mixed school before," said Jane in a interview at her home," and I didn't like it there.

"I get a rash when I'm around boys. I get it all over my arms, and it's embarrassing," she said.

Jane and her parents want her to attend a girl's school in nearby Luton. School officials rejected the request, saying the school of her choice is already overcrowded. They told her to matriculate at Fairmead a mixed school at surburan Loughton.

Her father, Leslie Reeve, told a reporter, "I dread to think what will happen if she goes to a school where there are boys. She's a nervous child and easily upset. For her health's sake, she should be allowed to go to a school for girls only."

The Reeve family doctor told reporters that Jane would, in his opinion, be better off at a girls-only school.

"The rash," he said, "is definitely due to her being near boys."

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:

♠AQ ♥A6 ♦AK8432 ♣QJ3

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	2 ♣	Pass	Pass
Double	Pass	2 ♦	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. True, partner has promised nothing since you forced him to bid, but possession of four diamonds will no doubt enable you to run the suit and a club lead or the favorable location of the king of spades would give you a ninth trick.

Q. 2—As South you hold:

♠AJ72 ♥2 ♦KJ6 ♣AJ932

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	2 ♠	Pass	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Although West's overcall is preemptive, your partner was unable to compete freely and there is no safe course of action available to you. A pass, at least, is apt to produce a small profit.

Q. 3—As South you hold:

♠AQ3 ♥KQJ87 ♦3 ♣KQ87

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 ♦	Double	Pass
1 ♥	Double	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. Your partner most likely close to being broke since East has announced possession of a very good hand, so the burden of the bidding lies squarely on your shoulders. Since both the ace of clubs and the king of spades appear to be favorably located for your side, all partner requires is some fair distribution or the jack of clubs to make four hearts a virtual laydown.

Q. 4—Your side has an 80 part score and as South you hold:

♠KJ10643 ♥K92 ♦73 ♣K10

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	3 ♦	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♦	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four spades. No serious thought should be given to bidding four hearts as that call could only serve to inflame an already slam minded partner. You had barely enough for your free bid and a simple rebid in your suit is called for at this point to slow down the pace.

Q. 5—Both sides vulnerable and as South you hold:

♠Q65432 ♥J10 ♦A83 ♣32

The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North

What do you bid now?

A.—Three spades. No more drastic action than this could be justified on such a relatively balanced holding. Unless partner can proceed over three, no game will have been missed. A leap to game by you might invite a double that could prove suprisingly costly.

Q. 6—As South you hold:

♠A8543 ♥62 ♦10852 ♣73

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
4 ♥	Double	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Pass, for a sure profit. A double at this level, while it still may be taken out, should be passed with anything but a highly unbalanced holding. There is no guarantee that partner possesses a fit with the spades, so any offensive action by you would be highly speculative.

Q. 7—As South you hold:

♠86 ♥A983 ♦J63 ♣A1054

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three diamonds. Your hand does not technically qualify for a second constructive bid. However, partner appears to have a very good diamond holding, since on his rebid he skipped by spades, no trump, and clubs. If he can stop spades, there may be nine tricks available in no trump.

Q. 8—Both sides vulnerable and as South you hold:

♠AK109 ♥AQJ73 ♦9865

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	2 ♣	Double	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. True you are void in clubs and that is always a deterrent against leaving a penalty double in, but your defensive values, otherwise, are all of the gilt edged variety your partner will be counting on. His club holding figures to be pretty good, and you are well prepared to give the opposition a warm reception should they decide to run out to some other spot.

North-South vulnerable. North deals.

Opening lead: Jack of ♦

West opened the jack of diamonds. Declarer won with the queen and then ruffed the ace of diamonds to take the trump finesse. When West showed out slight complications set in. Declarer led over to the queen of spades, repeated the trump finesse, and cashed the ace of trumps.

Since a heart loser was inevitable the success of the contract depended on finding the club king on side or splitting the spades 3-3, so that a discard could be obtained for one of declarer's clubs. Declarer thereupon played over to the ace of spades and then back to the king on which East discarded a diamond.

Since spades had failed to break declarer must pick up the king of clubs, but first he gave up the trump loser to East. When a diamond came back a declarer ruffed and the position was this:

NORTH
♣ A Q

WEST
♠ J

EAST
♦ 7 6
♣ K

SOUTH
♥ 5

South now cashed the last trump. West had to hold the jack of spades to take care of dummy's three spot. His forced discard was, therefore, the eight of clubs. South led a club and, when West followed with the nine, declarer reached for the ace, with telling effect.

South bowed modestly before partner's generous plaudits. "What a card reader! How did you figure it out?" South's answer was down to earth. "I didn't do much figuring. I happened to remember that West's only remaining card was a spade, therefore, it couldn't be the king of clubs. So what was the use of finessing?

Beall Reports On Bridge

U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall yesterday informed the Allegany County Board of Commissioners of the latest status on the proposed new Pinto bridge across the Potomac River into the Allegany County Ballistics Laboratory area.

Sen. Beall said William L. Batt Jr., area redevelopment administrator, has written him that the bridge project would not be eligible under the federal area redevelopment program.

He also said that U. S. Sens. Jennings Randolph and Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia join him in expressing disappointment that the bridge project did not qualify.

Sen. Beall also stated that the Navy has reported it did not have any money for such a project. The ABL facility is operated by Hercules Powder Company for the Navy.

The senator said that as things now stand the procedure which could be followed would be for the county, State of Maryland and West Virginia to enter into a joint program with the use of federal aid matching roads funds for the construction of the bridge.

Commissioner John J. Rowan, board president, said that in a conversation with Gov. Tawes at the State Association of County Commissioners meeting at Ocean City last week he believed that the governor may be able to work out some program for the eventual construction of the bridge. Rowan said Gov. Tawes is vitally interested in the project as he realizes the need and also the part being played by ABL in the space program.

W.Va. Health Director Urges Flu Immunization

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Health Director N. H. Dyer has urged West Virginians to begin preventive immunization programs immediately to head off a possible upswing in flu - like diseases.

Dyer said his agency is acting in cooperation with the U. S. Public Health Service, which recently expressed concern over the possibility of an epidemic in the coming months.

West Virginia last week had 165 cases of flu reported compared to only 93 the previous week. This brought the total to 9,980 for the year—a far cry from the 74,378 at this time in 1960.

However, Dyer said the lower number of cases thus far is no indication that an epidemic could not be "just around the corner."

He said that immunization programs are particularly important in depressed areas of West Virginia where large numbers of persons are existing on commodity diets deficient in certain essential food elements.

Dyer said his department has no funds for the immunization of needy persons but he will consult Welfare Director Bernard Smith on the possibility of obtaining federal money.

"If welfare funds are made available for this purpose," Dyer said, "facilities of the state and local health departments will be mobilized for an intensive statewide fly immunization program."

Dyer said influenza vaccines are highly effective, especially when it is known which type of virus is prevalent. He has asked that physicians report all cases promptly and submit specimens to the State Hygenic Laboratory for analysis if outbreaks occur.

The U. S. Public Health Service said recently that 86,000 persons died between September 1957, and March, 1960, of flu or its after-effects. In that period, West Virginia had more than 253,000 cases and 2 920 deaths from pneumonia and influenza.

Deny Witnesses Surplus Foods

WELLSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — A Salvation Army official in charge of distributing government surplus food here has stated he refused to issue food items to two families of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Paul R. Messenger said the decision was based on a "strong personal feeling that these people are adhering to a movement that teaches lack of respect for the American flag, and they should not receive free food from the government."

He said the decision was his own and not prompted by the Salvation Army or the government. The State Welfare Department regularly utilizes voluntary agencies to handle distribution of surplus commodities obtained from the federal government.

Messinger said that before removing the names of the two families from the list of eligible persons, he first verified their Jehovah Witness connections.

Pittsburgh Consol Buys Four Mines

W.Va. SRC Fires 23 Office Workers

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Road Commission has discharged 23 employes in its accounting office here. About 16 of them were reported to be Republicans.

SRC Comptroller Hugh Mills said the jobs were "considered surplus" and there are "no plans to fill them."

He also said he did not know the political leanings of those fired and said the dismissals were "not political as far as I am concerned."

other points along the system, assembled at the local VFW home to honor Mr. Bujac on the occasion of his retirement. They presented him with a large gift certificate, and many paid tributes to him for his friendship, loyalty and kindness during the years. The group also sent a large boquet of flowers as a special tribute to Mrs. Bujac.

Mr. Bujac said yesterday that he has made no particular plans for the future, but expects to do some traveling. He said "there are a number of places my wife and I have always wanted to see and now we will have the time. I expect to keep active and will find a number of things around the house that need to be done.

Seven Killed By Mishaps In West Virginia

By United Press International

Seven persons have lost their lives in traffic accidents in West Virginia since the Long Labor Day weekend started at 6 p.m. local time Friday.

One drowning and an electrocution have been reported, raising to nine the total number of fatalities for the period which ends at midnight Monday. In 1960, 11 persons died over the Labor Day week-end.

The drowning victim was William Schultz, 51, of Clarksburg. He drowned in the West Fork River Friday night.

Governors Introduced

Former Gov. Lane was called upon to introduce the official representatives from 10 Southern states and the District of Columbia for yesterday's ceremony. Men from the states of Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia, as well as Maryland, are buried in the cemetery.

Gov. J. Millard Tawes, who delivered the principal address at the cemetery, reminded his audience of "the awful action" at Antietam 99 years ago. He pointed out that although Maryland remained loyal to the Union, the sympathies of its citizens were divided. About 62,000 Marylanders served in the Union army, and 22,000 fought for the Confederacy.

Mrs. Walter M. Daniels of Hagerstown was called upon to present Gen. Eisenhower. It was stressed that her father was a confederate officer, and that she came to Hagerstown from Virginia and is a member of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Modern Contrast

Gen. Eisenhower, speaking briefly, pointed out that the tragic Civil War advanced the cause of human dignity and ended only after utter exhaustion of the Southern forces. He harkened back to the present day with a contrast between the Russian system where man is a soulless creature designed to work for the state, and our own, where man is guaranteed liberties.

He concluded by emphasizing that the brave men, both North and South, who died 100 years ago gave the nation a lasting example of courage, endurance and fidelity.

The invocation was offered by Rev. Dr. Edmund J. Lee, of Shepherdstown, W. Va., a retired Episcopal clergyman whose grandfather was Robert E. Lee's first cousin. Benediction was by Rev. Robert Passarelli, formerly of Frostburg, who is assistant pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church. Rep. Mathias pointed out that the Civil War pastor of St. Mary's became a Confederate chaplain. Sen. and Mrs. J. Glenn Beall were among the guests of honor on the platform.

City's Aerial Ladder Painted

The 85-foot aerial ladder of the Cumberland Fire Department has been inspected, cleaned and painted, according to Fire Chief Virgil Parker.

He said all worn metal parts of the ladder were replaced and the wooden sections painted with chrome aluminum paint.

The Seagrave ladder truck was purchased in 1949 for about $30,000. Chief Parker said it has paid for itself several times in checking major fires.

A new motor was installed in the truck last year.

Firemen, he added, are being trained in the use of the rig, both in its use as a ladder and in driving it.

Atlanta was originally called Terminus, because the settlement was made around the terminus of a state-owned railroad. In 1843 its name was changed to Marthasville, and in 1845 to Atlanta.

Labor Day Marks End For Most Vacations

Today a great nation will pause briefly in its activities to pay honor to one of its greatest forces, labor. For more than three-quarters of a century the first Monday in September has been observed as a day of rest for those who toil. On this day labor emphasizes its importance in the general economic system.

Labor Day traditionally marks the end of summer vacation season, with tourists and travelers back home, ready for business and school.

Man needs an annual parole from the drudgery of everyday living. There is an intangible benefit from a vacation which is often missed. It consists of a renewal of full understanding of home comforts, which results from comparison with those encountered on a trip. The bed at home, for example, feels mighty good after the lumpy mattress that was endured in that $15-a-day cabin in some resort.

The American people love to be on the move, and it was a grand vacation season while it lasted. But now the grindstone beckons.

Red Army Pressured Khrushchev Into Renewing Nuclear Tests

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Polish Communists report that the red army forced Premier Khrushchev's hand and induced him to resume nuclear testing. The Poles point out that Khrushchev is too smart regarding public relations to announce a decision like this just before the Belgrade Conference of neutral nations unless he was in a bind.

When I talked to him at his Black Sea vacation spot, Khrushchev gave one slight hint about nuclear testing, when he said he was under some pressure from his military leaders to test out new atomic weapons which Soviet scientists had recently developed. But he mentioned this in an offhand manner, as if he attributed no great importance to it.

He did say, very emphatically, however, that the nuclear test talks at Geneva now were of no value. A few days later, Ambassador Tsarapkin in Geneva indicated that he must have received the "word," for he didn't even put on his earphones to catch the translation of U. S. Ambassador Arthur Dean's important speech.

Soviet Paradox

One of the confusing paradoxes about the Soviet Union is that its people definitely want peace, its civilian leaders talk convincingly about peace, yet some of its moves, such as the resumption of nuclear testing, indicate grave preparation for war.

Almost everywhere I went in the Soviet Union, people were friendly toward Americans and also talked about the need for peace. This was true from Leningrad in the North to Sochi in the south. When it became known that I was going to see Khrushchev, one Russian lady said in a pleading voice: "oh please write something that will prevent trouble between the United States and Russia."

In Sochi, which is a beautiful resort city on the Black Sea, I met with about 50 Russians in the sanitarium of the metal workers union, one of 99 different rest homes for union members in that city, some of them just as attractive as the hotels along Miami Beach.

The group peppered me with all kinds of questions about the USA, Berlin, and Russian-American relations. One question was whether American workers had any vacation spots as attractive as Sochi. I replied that David Dubinsky had a vacation resort in the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania for the International Ladies Garment Workers and Jacob Potovsky had a similar spot in the Catskills of New York for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers; but that, generally speaking, union members had their own cars and were able to drive to Florida or elsewhere for vacation.

They commented that both Dubinsky and Potovsky appeared to have come from Russia.

On the subject of Berlin, the group, though generally friendly, all considered the United States wrong. And nothing I could say could convince them otherwise. Their questions seemed prompted by their obvious desire to avoid war.

War And Progress Don't Mix

I was in the Soviet Union just after the 20-year plan had been announced, and its goals created wide discussion. The Russian people have made a lot of progress during the 16 years since the end of the war. Their housing is vastly improved. Their schools are catching up with ours (especially with the congressional defeat of Kennedy's education bill) and their food supply is now about adequate.

This is something they don't want to interrupt, and they know war would interrupt it. Most of them can also remember the terrible suffering of the last war, when nearly a million people died of starvation during the siege of Leningrad, when Stalingrad was a shambles and the Nazi armies were on the outskirts of Moscow.

They don't want to repeat this. Therefore they were worried when Khrushchev made a speech in mid-August warning that he might bomb the Acropolis and that Europe might be a shambles. It took them by surprise.

Explanation for the paradox is twofold: 1. The Kremlin is matching Kennedy's mobilization of reserves and our increased military budget; 2. The Soviet usually overplays its hand.

It will be for history to decide whether Kennedy was wise in calling out reserves and making other military moves. Unquestionably he had to increase appropriations for missiles and rockets which had lagged under Eisenhower. But, whether right or wrong, his moves have given the Red Army the excuse to make even greater moves for war.

They have overplayed their hand to such an extent that it has worried the Russian people, rebuffed the neutrals in Belgrade, and stimulated more war psychosis in the United States.

Overplaying a hand is not unusual in the Soviet. It is par for the course. Khrushchev had a great deal of world sympathy with him after the U-2 fiasco in Paris—until he held that vitriolic press conference. Then it evaporated.

Stalin had a great reservoir of friendship with the American people at the end of the war, but blew it with bellicose statements and Soviet espionage. He overplayed his hand.

Right now Soviet leaders are getting ready for tough negotiations over Berlin. They are shrewd bargainers and are building up a position of strength. What they don't realize, however, because they don't have a free public opinion to worry about at home, is that public opinion reacts strongly in other countries, especially the United States, and it will be very difficult to reverse that opinion and get back to the period of genuine peace which Russian leaders talk about—many of them with apparent sincerity.

These Days

Labor Day 1961

The attitude of American labor has, on the whole, changed since the unions have become enormously rich and the maintenance of union membership depends upon the prosperity of particular industries. For instance, some unions are losing members because the industries are being destroyed by competition from abroad and a sufficient loss of membership could lessen the significance of the union.

The coal industry, which for many years played a vital role in labor union affairs, is rapidly losing in significance. In fact, the industry has suffered so from the substitution of natural gas, and petroleum products for coal that West Virginia, which prospered on coal, is suffering economic distress. Also, as fewer workers are employed in the coal industry, the union loses membership. The days of John Mitchell and of John L. Lewis, when the United Mine Workers was the leading union in the United States, are gone not because of labor union mismanagement but because the role of the coal industry has changed in the American economy.

In the days of Mark Hanna, it was industry which demanded protection. The high tariff existed to protect infant industries. Today big industries have branches and subsidiaries scattered throughout the world. Their natural interests are mixed. An American automobile company may not deal with Red China or with Castro. This company's subsidiary, situated in Canada, not only may deal with Red China and Cuba, but under certain circumstances must obey Canada's policy on this subject. Thus, American capital may be used against the United States. In fact, certain American plants, established in Europe with the object of dealing with Iron Curtain countries, do, in effect, betray the best interests of the United States.

American labor has, on the whole, been uncompromisingly anti-Communist. Communist influence has disappeared altogether from the A.F.L.-C.I.O. and no important labor leader, no matter what his attitude was in the 1930s, would today join even a remote front organization.

When Mikoyan came to this country to seduce American industry, he met with considerable success among businessmen and bankers but he was given an antagonistic reception by American labor leaders. The same happened to Khrushchev. This attitude of American labor expresses itself even in such episodes as American longshoremen refusing to load or unload Communist goods.

The tariff is not an immediate issue in this country but some labor unions are demanding to know why their industries are being destroyed and their people put out of work because of the import of foreign goods, manufactured by lower priced labor. Often foreign governments subsidize their own industries to sell goods in the American market in order to get American dollars. This question will loom larger during the next few years, the more labor unions become conscious of the terrible cost in jobs and similar policies.

In a word, instead of American industry demanding a protective tariff, it is American labor which is already clamoring for protection. From a practical standpoint, unemployment is damaging in many ways. First of all, is the lack of family income. Unemployment must be measured not only by a total lack of work but also by partial lack of work. The man who only works 20 hours a week is half-employed, which means that his family income has been decreased. If we take present figures and analyze them from that standpoint between 7,500,000 and 10,000,000 Americans are unemployed. Labor unions take this seriously.

Secondly, there has been an astonishing shift from manufacturing to service industries. The largest union in the United States, the Teamsters Union, is engaged in a service industry. Many of the older unions are losing members to the newer service industries.

Finally, it is to be noted that the type of leader that modern labor produces in the United States is, on the whole, professional rather than political. Even a union managed by James Hoffa, who does play politics, is in its upcoming echelons increasingly professional.

The Secretary of Labor, Arthur Goldberg, is an unusual personality who brings to the labor movement a statesmanship which has heretofore not been visible in that office. Goldberg's effort has been to settle labor disputes without strikes and when a strike occurs, he moves into the middle of it, to bring about peace and order. He is probably the most articulate member of the President's Cabinet.

Nixon, Rockefeller, Goldwater And The Future

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon has just completed a Washington reconnaissance. With no significant exceptions, the local Republican elders advised Nixon to run for Governor of California. Some added that Nixon's position of leadership in the party would be sadly undermined if he ducked the governorship race.

The competition, from Democratic Gov. Pat Brown, is at present expected to be fairly lackadaisical. Yet the advice Nixon got in Washington, although similar to the advice he has been getting in California, was decidedly unpalatable to him. He does not want to run for the governorship, partly because the office itself does not irresistibly attract him, and partly because he would naturally like to wait a little longer before making another hard race.

All the same, the logic of Nixon's situation clearly jibes with the advice he got here. Even the minor considerations, such as the fact that the California State House would give Nixon a dignified refuge from the 1964 Presidential primaries, all tend to push Nixon into the gubernatorial contest.

Hence it appears likely that the reluctant Nixon will finally announce his gubernatorial candidacy when his self-set deadline comes in the middle of next month. He might balk at the last moment. But the odds favor the Nixon candidacy, and if he makes the race, the odds are on a Nixon victory over Pat Brown.

Thus one of the major elements in the coming Republican pattern appears to be about to jell in a rather solid and impressive way. As to element number two, the situation of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York can be considered as having jelled already, barring a political miracle to reverse the present outlook.

Gov. Rockefeller is virtually certain to win re-election by a good majority, if only for want of effective opposition. He just may make an important gain from the moon-struck mayoralty fight in New York City, where the Democrats are certainly doing everything in their power to help the other side. And even without this kind of gain, Rockefeller's home-state position will be very strong.

Furthermore, as things now stand, Rockefeller also seems likely to be further strengthened by other Northeastern state victories of Republicans of the Rockefeller type. The most notable example is former Secretary of Labor James Mitchell, whose prospects for capturing the governorship of New Jersey are now rated very good indeed.

There may be other such successes, as well. All of them will drive home the point that Rockefeller-type Republicanism wins votes. The point will have to be driven home very hard indeed, however; for even the New York city financial district, where the Landon, Willkie, Dewey, and Eisenhower drives all began, is far from ready for Rockefeller as yet.

As for the Republican pattern's third and last major element, Sen. Barry Goldwater's desire to impose an all-out Southern-oriented strategy on his party has been examined in a previous report. But this is not the end of the Goldwater story, by any means.

Another important chapter could be glimpsed during one of Goldwater's recent visits to California. Here an avowed member of the neo-Fascist John Birch Society, youthful Rep. John Russelot, is threatening to challenge moderate Republican Sen. Thomas Kuchel in the party primary.

Russelot's chances to beat Kuchel appear to be minimal. Kuchel is Goldwater's colleague and deputy Senate leader. And Goldwater is chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee. Hence a word from Goldwater favoring Kuchel ought to have been a matter of course. He was pressed to say this word. Yet he refrained quite ostentatiously from doing so, even when the bleachers of the stadium where he made his address blossomed with John Birch Society "Russelot for Senator" banners.

Goldwater in fact hopes to be helped by the victories of Goldwater-type Republicans, just as Rockefeller hopes to be helped by victories of Republicans of the Rockefeller type. Furthermore, while Goldwater has little chance of this kind of outcome in California, he has an excellent chance in other parts of the country. In the South and the Midwest especially, his agents are looking for the right sort of candidates to support; and they may easily find what they want.

If this happens, Goldwater will be a third formidable contender. And his emergence as a serious candidate will add violent ideological inflammation to the coming contest.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

THUMBS DOWN—Earl Warren, chief justice of the United States, wants to establish a permanent exhibit in the Supreme Court to display a collection of historical documents. His request is quite modest: he wants Congress to provide $20,800.

Warren's plan calls for eight bronze exhibit cases to be placed in the Court's main corridor. The cases would display, among others, three landmark decisions in the evolution of constitutional law, and a number of opinions written by the first chief justice, John Marshall.

Actually, there has been little adverse comment on Warren's proposal, but the appropriations committees are believed to feel that it would cause a needless row with Southern legislators who have little love for the high court these days and none at all for Warren, who wrote the anti-segregation decisions a few years back.

ORDERS IS ORDERS! — An official of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare arrived at his office the other morning to find a crew of workmen busily tearing down the wall and door to his office.

Demanding to know what was going on, the official was told "we got orders," and the workers proceeded with their job. The official, an old hand in government, mumbled something about how he should have been notified, but realized that was a lot to ask.

As he looked on, he asked the busy workmen to show him their work orders. They did, and the orders contained the correct room number, floor and corridor. But there was a flaw. The workmen were in the wrong building, the North instead of the South HEW Building.

The official raised so much Cain that, contrary to normal government procedure, a new crew shortly hove onto the scene to start the rebuilding process. And, wonder of wonders, the new crew was even larger than the aggregation he had encountered during the wrecking operation.

Now the official is right pleased with the influence he had in obtaining speedy reconstruction, and with the added stature he gained in the eyes of his bureaucracy-ridden colleagues.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

MADRID, Spain—All the uplands are dry and sandy and the pine trees grow in defiance of the blazing sun. The green is all in the valleys, where once mighty rivers made wet pencil lines through their dry beds. But the Guadarrama Mountains are big and blue with distance and we drove northeast toward them without ever overtaking them.

The bullfights are tomorrow. We had a free day. We wanted to see Santa Cruz del Valle de los Caidos which, poorly translated, is the sainted cross of the valley of the fallen. It is in the mountainous country behind El Escorial and some say it is the new wonder of the world. It is Generalissimo Franco's monument to the dead of the Spanish Civil War.

The country is all ranchland, with stone walls on both sides of the road three feet high, moving up and down the highway and always making the steep turns. At Galapagar there was a sign on a will: Ristorante. We stopped for lunch. Inside the wall, three little girls with black braids and pierced ears were playing.

They prattled in Spanish and, when we made motions to our months, they pointed to the front door. A buxom woman appeared. She spoke no English. We speak no Spanish. We made motions. She kept saying: "Si, si," and telling us, in rapid Spanish, what there was to eat.

We wanted cheese and fruit and coffee. She could not understand. I motioned for her to lead us inside, and we would point to what we wanted. We saw a wedge of old cheese, shiny with sweat. We pointed. "Ah," she said, "fromage!" She opened a refrigerator. We pointed to some field grapes and nectarines. She said: "Fruita." There was a coffee making machine. We pointed. "Cafe," she murmured. "Cafe blanco?"

I said I wanted a big coffee, not a Spanish one. They serve it shotglass size. "Grande," I said, making big motions. She smiled with comprehension. We ate out in the garden under the olive trees. She gave me a thimbleful of coffee in a huge cup.

We passed Escorial, where King Phillip II built a combination palace and monastery on a mountain. It is three blocks long. The main building required so many years to build that Phillip had a stone chair carved in front, so that he could sit and watch in his declining years.

Spanish soldiers were guarding the arches to the entrance of the Valley of the Fallen. The fee is 50 pesetas (60 cents) and we turned left. We were already high in the mountains, but the road curved upward four miles before we saw the monument.

There was a granite cross sticking out of a peak. It was about 110 feet high. We crossed a bridge over a precipitous valley and the road moved ight, and further up. The car refused high gear and we went in second. Suddenly, we were in a granite plaza about the size of Yankee Stadium.

This was the parking lot. We walked up cascades of granite steps. On top was a plaza about 1500 feet across and 700 feet deep. From it, the whole world seemed to spread out below, like a wrinkled brown and green carpet. The Guadarrama Mountains are on all sides except front.

Behind was a colonnaded memorial. It represents the greatest amount of granite I have ever seen. The Lincoln Memorial would fit in the main doorway. Above it is the rugged, rocky mountain and, on top, the granite cross.

We entered the front door and moved inside the mountain. Ahead was a cathedral which, I am sure, is longer than St. Peter's in Rome. The floors are of polished pink and black marble. The ceiling is of vaulted granite with spaces between the arches to show the natural rough rock of the mountain. Two knights, leaning on big broadswords, guard the entrance from niches in the wall. At the far end, the altar is simple and impressive. Over it, the figure of Christ hangs from a gnarled cross made from a mountain tree.

There are four circular steps of marble supporting the altar. Overhead is a gold dome reaching all the way through the mountain to the sun. It is frescoed with holy paintings and angels. Before the altar, in the floor, is the tomb of a soldier.

A guard who spoke a little English said it required 14 years of labor, and thousands of workers, to blast this monument out of the mountain. Nowhere is Franco's name or likeness seen. It is, perhaps, the biggest monument in the world.

When warriors die, they turn to the Prince of Peace . . .

Modern Humans Must Cope With Civilization

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Our abundant modern life may backfire unless we recognize its limitations. Super-civilization — with its industry, automation, motorization, and competition — has many advantages. But the swing from the simple life is leading to physical and spiritual deterioration, which Dr. W. Raab calls the diseases of civilization and prosperity.

This may help explain why so many people develop neuroses, peptic ulcer, spastic bowel, headaches, and high blood pressure. Less physical effort weakens muscles and encourages backache, flat feet, and other muscular disorders. The mounting number of victims of arthritis, obesity, and heart disease is part of the picture.

Our sedentary habits and lack of exercise have made many of us so ~~soft, exertion~~ is a strain on the heart, muscles, and joints. Others are bothered by an unfavorable working posture, the monotony of assembly line work, the boredom of living on a dole, or featherbedding.

Working the night shift also disturbs our natural rhythm and changes in hours affect normal eating habits. Noise and air pollution, additional by-products of civilization, add to our troubles. The socioeconomic pressures, especially those brought on through competition in school and work, raise Ned with the nervous system.

When all these factors are considered, it is obvious why so many of us are tense, anxious, and frustrated. Furthermore, with prosperity comes a tendency to worry about security and the safety of possessions. We may not be able to go back to the good old life but we can learn to copy with reality, relax, and maintain our sense of values.

MORE ULCERS?

L. P. writes: I'm a high-strung person who cannot relax so the surgeon took out three fourths of my stomach because an ulcer wouldn't heal. Is there any danger of getting another ulcer?

REPLY

Yes—where the remaining part of the somach is attached to the intestine. But this is unlikely because the part of the organ containing most of the acid producing glands was removed. In addition, many surgeons also divorce the stomach from the brain by cutting the nerves that are affected by the emotional upheavals.

PULSE AND PRESSURE

R. E. F. writes: My pulse runs between 60 and 70 in the morning. Does this indicate high or low blood pressure?

REPLY

The pulse rate represents the number of times the heart contracts in a minute. The blood pressure reading refers to the pressure within the arteries. Your pulse is normal but your blood pressure could be high, low, or normal.

SUBSTITUTE KIDNEY

Mrs. R. P. writes: I have to have one kidney removed. Are plastic kidneys available as substitutes?

REPLY

No, but the remaining kidney will do double duty. The artificial kidney is used for people with uremia who are seriously ill because they have no kidney function. The machine is too large to be inserted into the body as a substitute.

BEDTIME SNACKS

C. C. writes: Will eating before going to bed cause indigestion or heartburn the next day?

REPLY

No, because the food has left the stomach by morning. If eating cause insomnia, the ensuing sense of fatigue, restlessness, and tension may produce indigestion.

NEOPLASMS

K. D. writes: What is a neoplasm?

REPLY

A new growth. Cancer is a malignant neoplasm, for example, whereas a fatty tumor is benign.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The late President Teddy Roosevelt never got over the pleasure of toting a gun with him whereever he ventured. He appeared in the drawing room of the White House one evening, attired in full evening dress for a dinner honoring the British ambassador, when he suddenly made a dash for the stairs. "Lordamighty," he explained to his wife, "I've forgotten my gun!"

Henry Albriston is a dapper, law abiding citizen of Mt. Kisco with a deceivingly bland manner. Aboard a wretched commuter local one morning, a burly stranger squeezed in next to Mr. Albritson in a "non-smoking" coach, lit a foul-smelling stogie, and asked condescendingly, "My smoking won't bother you, will it?"

"Not at all," Mr. Albritson assured him, "So long as my getting sick won't bother you."

Frank Lehman writes that he was never in doubt of his wife's love and loyalty until his birthday this year. She presented him with a deerskin coat to wear in the hunting season.

Yankees Sweep Detroit Series On Howard's Homer In 9th, 8-5

Mantle's 2nd Homer Ties Score In 9th

Elston Hits 3-Run Blast And Gives Arroyo 13th Win

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Yankees took a 4½-game stranglehold on the American League pennant race Sunday when Elston Howard hit a three-run homer in the last of the ninth inning for an 8-5 victory that completed a stunning three-game sweep over the Detroit Tigers.

Dead-game Detroit appeared to have salvaged a dramatic win when it rallied for two runs in the top of the ninth against Yankee relief ace Luis Arroyo to lead, 5-4.

Mickey Ties Score

But Mickey Mantle hit his second homer of the game and 50th of the season to tie the score in the last half of the ninth. The two homers put Mantle three games ahead of Babe Ruth's record pace and left him three homers behind teammate Roger Maris, who failed to connect for a homer Sunday.

Yogi Berra, who had homered in the first inning, followed Mantle's ninth-inning blast with a single that chased Tiger reliever Jerry Staley. Arroyo then sacrificed Berra to second against reliever Ronnie Kline and Bill Skowron was intentionally walked in hopes of setting up a double play.

Kline Is Victim

Kline slipped a fast ball strike over against Howard but the Yankee catcher blasted his second pitch high and deep into the lower left field stands to win the game.

Norm Cash clouted his 33rd homer for Detroit with the bases empty in the sixth. And so, the Yankees had a 4-2 lead when they asked Arroyo to protect the win by pitching the last two innings.

The three-game sweep, similar to a sweep the Yankees scored in last year's race against Baltimore, moved New York five games ahead of Detroit in the vital lost column.

A crowd of 55,676 saw Sunday's dramatic windup and helped set an attendance record of 171,503 for a three-game series at Yankee Stadium. Previous stadium high for a three-game series was 165,268 for a Detroit series in 1950.

Staley Is Loser

Chicago Whips Senators Twice

White Sox Cop Ten Of Last 12 Games

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Chicago White Sox beat the Washington Senators in both games of a doubleheader Sunday, 5-4 and 4-1, closing out their season's schedule against the local team with 13 victories in 18 meetings.

Juan Pizarro, a 24-year-old southpaw, set the Senators down on five hits in the second game, which was halted in the sixth for 35 minutes because of rain. Pizarro won his 12th against five losses and was backed up by an 11-hit attack, including three singles by J. D. Martin.

Pinch-hitter Billy Goodman rapped a two-run double down the left field line in the ninth inning to win the first game. Billy Pierce, third of four Chicago pitchers, got the victory, his eighth against eight losses.

Phillies Post First Victory Over Reds, 3-2

Covington's Pinch Hit Wins In Ninth

PHILADELPHIA (AP) -- The Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Cincinnati Reds 3-2 Sunday for their first triumph of the season over the National League leaders after 17 setbacks.

Pinch-hitter Wes Covington singled home Bobby Malkmus with the winning run in the bottom of the eighth of the game interrupted for about an hour by rain.

Jim Owens, recording his third victory of the year against nine defeats for the cellar dwellers, allowed eight hits, including three to Vada Pinson. Owens survived a two-on situation in the ninth, halting the Reds' long string.

The Phils' winning run came off Jim Maloney, who relieved Jim O'Toole in the start of the eighth. Charlie Smith doubled in opening the inning and Manager Gene Mauch immediately sent in Malkmus to run for him. Malkmus took third when Don Demeter fouled out to first baseman Gordy Coleman and then came in when Covington hit for Frank Herrera.

The Phils continued to threaten when Tony Gonzalez singled, sending Ken Walters, running for Covington, to third. But Maloney got Ruben Amaro to fly out and Bill Henry came in and got Clay Dalrymple on a line out to Pinson.

Pirates Defeat Cardinals, 8-1

Bob Friend Scores 13th Win Of Season

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Steady pitching by Bob Friend and an early attack powered by Don Hoak and Roberto Clemente gave the Pittsburgh Pirates an 8-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday.

Hoak, whose bases-loaded double was the big blow of a three-run first inning, and Clemente, who hit his 23rd home run with a man on base in the four-run second, helped Friend to a 7-0 lead and he then had little trouble turning back the Redbirds.

Bill Virdon hit a solo homer, his ninth, in the fifth inning.

Friend, 13-17, allowed 11 hits but bore down when it counted. He eased out of the second without a score despite Stan Musial's double and Carl Sawatski's single. The Cards' only run scored in the third, an inning the Redbirds opened with three straight singles, on a double play.

Curt Simmons, the starting and losing pitcher, was the victim of the brunt of the Pirate assault. Now 8-10, he was relieved by Al Cicotte in the second. Cicotte was tagged for the homers and Graig Anderson finished.

Moorefield And Hyndman Cop Playoff Openers In Pen-Mar League

West Virginia Team Defeats Kasnick, 8-3

Barrelville Loses, 7-4; Second Games Scheduled Today

Hyndman's pennant winning Merchants spilled Barrelville's Old Exports, 7-4, and the Moorefield All-Stars handed Mike Kasnick, pitching ace of the Frostburg Merchants, his first loss of the season, 8-3, in the opening games of the Pen-Mar Baseball League playoffs staged yesterday at Hyndman and Frostburg.

Vohn Lehman, Hyndman righthander, outpitched Dave Richards and Ed Parsons, to give the Pennsylvanians the jump in the opener of the best-of-three semi-final playoffs before approximately 250 spectators at Hyndman.

In chalking up his tenth victory of the campaign in 14 decisions, Lehman kept eight hits well spaced, fanned nine and issued six bases on balls.

Score Five In Third

Hyndman put the game on ice by scoring five runs in the third inning by coupling four hits with a walk, hit batsman and infield out. Lou Hite, Gene Stair, Cliff Clites and Bosley delivered hits during the big inning. Hyndman's final tally in the 7th was the result of back-to-back doubles by Gene Stair and Cliff Clites.

After being blanked by Lehman from the third through the eighth innings, Barrelville rallied in the ninth for two runs when Lewis singled and Galen McGregor and Ed Parsons smacked two-base hits.

Stair Gets Four Hits

Stair had a perfect day at the plate with three singles and a double while Clites smacked two singles and a double in four trips. Galen McGregor collected three of Barrelville's eight blows, a double and two singles.

Ed Parsons, who replaced Dave Richards in the third inning, was tagged with the loss.

Mike Kasnick, who turned in an 8-0 record for Frostburg during the regular season, was hammered for 13 hits in his first game of the campaign at the hands of the All-Stars from Hardy County.

Dave Vance Winner

Dave Vance went all the way for Moorefield, gave up nine safeties, struck out six and issued only two bases on balls. Kasnick whiffed five and walked one.

George Hott and Don Smith were the "big guns" for Moorefield with three hits each. Hott slammed a triple, double and single while Smith had a trio of one-base knocks. Bobby Wilson and Bob Keller garnered two hits each for the West Virginians.

Gene Zumpano, Gary Keedy and Don Nave shared six of Frostburg's nine blows. One of Zumpano's hits was a two-bagger.

Today at 2:30 p. m., the series will resume with games scheduled for Barrelville and Moorefield.

Larry Reynolds, Rated 7th Nationally, Will Ride Here

Races At Fairgo To Get Under Way Week From Today

Lawrence Reynolds, the Ohio lad, who booted home 25 winners during the 12-day meeting here in 1958, will head the jockeys coming here for the Cumberland Fair Association's 35th race meeting which gets under way one week from today at 2 p. m., at Fairgo.

Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by John J. Bejshak, of Baltimore, who serves as custodian at all Maryland tracks but Pimlico.

Bejshak, once a top-flight jockey, who rode Discovery to his greatest triumphs, stated that Reynolds, Terry Lipham, Anthony Russo, Johnny Sollars, Gus Pappas and most of the other riders performing on Maryland's minor tracks this season, will vie at Fairgo's meeting which closes Saturday, Sept. 23.

The national standings, January 1 through July 31, showed that Reynolds is in 7th place among the nation's riders. For that period he has 763 mounts, 136 winners, 89 seconds, 89 thirds and was unplaced 449 times.

The most winners ever riden during a Fairgo meeting was 26 by Bill Clark in ten days in 1955.

SRC Cannot Build Walkway At Lonaconing

LONACONING — The assistant attorney general of Maryland assigned to the State Roads Commission has informed the SRC that it cannot place a pavement along the widened Route 36 from the town limits of Lonaconing to Valley High School at Detmold.

Joseph D. Buscher, assigned from the office of the attorney general to the SRC, said that under Maryland law the roads unit can legally build only highways and bridges.

Buscher pointed out that the only exception is where the SRC's contractor has dug up an existing sidewalk. Then it is responsible for replacement.

John B. Funk, chairman-director of highways of the SRC, had been asked by Mayor Virgil Alexander, of Lonaconing, if a concrete sidewalk could be placed along the stretch of road.

Alexander pointed out that only a gravel walkway has been left on the northern side of the highway right-of-way.

The project of widening Route 36 on this third of a mile stretch was stepped up to this year by the SRC from its original schedule in the county's list of projects.

This was due to the fact that many students walked on the highway going to and from school constituting a danger to themselves and motorists.

W.Va. Health Dept. Requests Bigger Budget

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The need for additional funds was cited in the annual budget report of the West Virginia Department of Health for the 1960-61 fiscal year which ended last June 30.

Director N. H. Dyer said that although his agency received an increase from the Legislature for the 1961-62 fiscal year, "West Virginia continues to lag far behind in expenditures for public health."

The Legislature provided an additional $242,844 for distribution to local health departments in the fiscal period which ends next June 30.

However, total appropriations for the 1961 fiscal year were $2.9 million, an increase of only $121,821 over the previous 12-month period.

Dyer said lack of funds last year impeded the department's heart and cancer programs. These two ailments claimed about 10,000 lives in West Virginia.

"We could not match federal funds with out small heart disease programs...and we had to discontinue acceptance of new cancer cases for diagnosis last May 15," Dyer said.

"We firmly believe that at least a third of those who die from cancer in West Virginia could be saved by early diagnosis and effective treatment. But we have been repeatedly unsuccessful in attempts to secure additional funds for our program even though the need increases each year."

Miss Shirley Tintle Named Hampshire County Queen

AUGUSTA, W. Va. — Brown-eyed, blonde Shirley Tintle, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Tintle, of Kirby, was crowned Queen of the Hampshire County Fair Saturday after being declared winner by judges of the contest.

A 1961 graduate of Romney High School, she attended Haverford High School, near Philadelphia, before going to Romney High School. She will enter West Virginia University this month.

The five-foot-four inch 112-pound queen chose baking as her exhibit category in the contest and gave a reading on nature, which she composed herself, in the talent phase of the contest.

She was "Sweetheart of Romney FFA" last year and was sponsored by that group in the contest. She is also president of the MYF at Mt. Zion Methodist Church.

With five contestants in the contest the point spread was very close. The winner scored 255 points and the lowest score was 224.

BECKLEY, W. Va. (UPI) — State Police Trooper J. L. Springer of Beckley, who never fired a shot in the course of duty but was an expert marksman, retired Friday after 25 years service.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

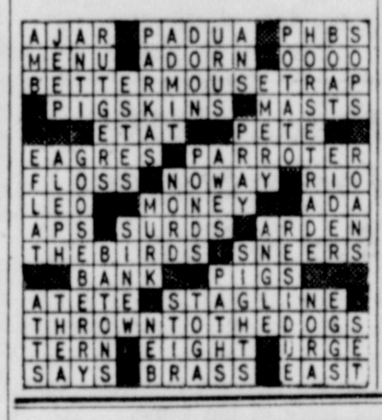
Answer To Previous Puzzle



Ann Landers . . .

(Copyright 1961, Field Enterprises, Inc.)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I don't know who else to ask so I'm writing to you. It's about my husband's mother. She's a perfectly nice woman and has never caused us any trouble but she has a laugh like a hyena. You'd think that after 10 years I'd be accustomed to it but it seems to bother me more instead of less.

The other evening my husband and I were in the movies with another couple. Suddenly this familiar laugh went through me like a knife. I knew my mother-in-law was there. My friend turned to me and said "Isn't that the worst laugh you've ever heard?" I sank down in my seat and said nothing.

Should I mention this to my mother-in-law? Can it be that she doesn't know how she sounds? She's in her 60's and I wouldn't hurt her feelings for the world.—THE D.I.L.

DEAR D.I.L.: Your mother-in-law has probably been laughing this way for 60 years. It's unlikely that you can change her laughing habits.

Develop a tin ear and tell yourself that her laugh is just one of the unpleasant things in life you must learn to tolerate. Putting up with things we don't like (but can't change) is part of being mature and civilized.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 13 and the oldest of three children. I'm not exactly all grown up but I know what's going on in this house.

Our mother died at Easter time. Daddy hired a woman to cook and clean house. She is divorced from her husband. When Mom was here our house always looked beautiful. This woman doesn't know anything about cleaning a house or else she is too lazy. Her cooking is terrible. She never makes anything from the beginning, it's always frozen dinners or canned stuff.

Last night Dad took her to the movies. She wore Mom's pretty coat and it made us unhappy. Are we wrong to be upset over this?—SAD ONES

DEAR SAD ONES: Your dad is lonesome but he shouldn't be seeking companionship from a woman who was hired to work in his home. As the oldest one I think you ought to tell your dad how you feel.

I hope your dad will give her notice so she can find another job and then hire a housekeeper who knows something about keeping house. If he thinks you are too young to know what you're talking about tell him to speak to his clergyman — the one who buried your mother six months ago.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 11 years old and a boy. I play the clarinet. Since I started taking lessons two years ago my whole life has been ruined. I have to practice when I should be outside playing ball. Any doctor will tell you it is much healthier to be out in the fresh air playing ball than cooped up in a stuffy house playing the clarinet. I have to be in a recital in November and I think I am getting some gray hair over it.

I read that Benny Goodman still practices every day. If he is the world's best and still practicing, what good is the whole thing anyway?—SLAVE

DEAR SLAVE: Benny Goodman doesn't practice so he will GET good. He practices so he will STAY good. Music lessons are worthwhile for kids even if they hate them. The discipline and the practice are useful and it consumes extra energy which might otherwise be spent getting into mischief.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

900 Affected By Amcelle Layoffs

More Expected This Week; Other Workers On Short Time

About 900 employes at Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company have been furloughed or put on short time during the last month because of operating difficulties in the extrusion department where a new work assignment went into effect a week ago today, a company spokesman confirmed yesterday.

The operating difficulties were blamed on "unauthorized machine stoppages and tampering with machine controls to the extent that machines must be stopped."

More furloughs will be made early this week as the effect of "recent interferences" is reflected in yarn shortages in textile and service departments.

Although the number of machines still operating was not revealed, the plant spokesman conceded that 60 to 70 per cent of the plant is out of production.

The Amcelle plant carries a normal payroll of about 2,500 hourly employes, and has been operating with about 2,200 to 2,300 for some time before the furloughs began.

38 Jobs Eliminated

Unauthorized machine shutdowns and tampering with machines began in July after the company served formal notice of a new work assignment to be installed in August, the company said. It included elimination of 38 jobs.

After that notice was served, company and union representatives held six meetings. The contract between Celanese and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, provides for 30-day notice of new or changed work assignments, during which the parties try to reach agreement. Arbitration is provided for if the union isn't satisfied after the work assignment goes into effect.

The company told the union the changes were being made because of technological improvements that have accumulated over the last five years, and said the changes were necessary to enable Amcelle to compete with other Celanese locations and with other companies.

Some Stay On Furloughed List

Celanese said it made modifications in its proposal during the six meetings, but no details of the discussions were announced.

The company spokesman explained it this way yesterday:

"The change was made under the work assignments and technological displacement sections of the contract. Thirty-eight jobs were eliminated, which provided the opportunity for that number of employes to elect the benefits of technological displacement. Twenty-six employes bid for displacement pay, which totaled $38,300. The remaining employes who were displaced elected to remain on the furlough list for recall consideration rather than accept termination benefits."

A union spokesman confirmed that the situation has developed, but had no comment on the company's statement.

Continentals To Participate In 'Shoot-Off'

The Cumberland Continentals as a unit of the Army of the Potomac, has been challenged along with its brother Civil War Union units to participate in a live ammunition shoot-off with the Army of Northern Virginia. The shoot-off is scheduled Saturday at 1 p.m. on the Piper Farmland adjacent to the Antietam-Sharpsburg Museum, Antietam Battlefield.

The two armies will not shoot at each other but will compete in muzzle-loading and a turkey shoot. The object will be to determine the theoretical winner if the two present day reactivated armies were forced to face each other in open combat.

Each participant will fire two rounds at a stationary target (range 30 yards) from a standing position to determine the representative of his respective unit in the qualifying round. Representatives of each unit will fire three rounds from a standing position to determine the Union and Confederate champion sharpshooters, and the two champions will fire six rounds each from a standing position to determine the grand champion sharpshooter.

The commanding officers (or second-in-command) of each unit will constitute the board of judges.

Representatives of the Cumberland unit will be Major Fritz Haselberger, Lt. Robert Wilson, Sgt. Major David Day, Acting Ordnance Sgt. James Boyd; Acting Section Sgt. Ron Martin; Cpl. Stanley Radcliffe, Acting Supply Cpl. William Sowers, Pvt. Alton Hoopengardner and Pvt. Woodrow Simmons.

City Expected To Approve Economic Plan

The Overall Economic Development Program of the Upper Potomac Industrial Development Company is scheduled for approval at Tuesday's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech says he will introduce the order approving the UPIDC's program for this area.

The plan was approved last week by the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, but must have the sanction of both city and county governments before it can be submitted to the Area Redevelopment Administration.

Acceptance of the UPIDC's program would allow this area to qualify for assistance projects available to areas which have substantial and persistent unemployment.

The Area Redevelopment Act, the UPIDC said, provides the means whereby the federal government, in cooperation with state and local governments and private enterprise, can take effective steps to plan and finance their economic redevelopment.

The UPIDC, through its president, John E. Geare, has asked the City of Cumberland to expedite its formal recognition of the 11-point program.

Stores Here Open Tuesday Evening

Most of Cumberland's downtown stores will be closed today in observance of Labor Day, but all stores affiliated with the Retail Merchants Association will be open Tuesday until 9 p.m. for evening shopping.

Association stores will also observe evening shopping hours Thursday with the usual 9 o'clock closing.

River, Mercury Averages High During August

The observed mean daily flow of the North Branch of the Potomac River at Wiley Ford during August was recorded by the local Geological Survey team as 446 cubic feet per second or 288 million gallons per day.

A. A. Vickers, engineer in charge said in his report that this is 103 per cent of the 32-year August recorded average.

Flow of the river varied from 2,330 cubic feet per second or 1,506 million gallons on August 12, and 221 cubic feet per second or 143 million gallons on August 22. Included in this report is an equivalent of 13 cubic feet per second or 8.4 million gallons per day released from the storage reservoir at Savage River Dam. This is 2.9 per cent of the river flow at Cumberland.

During August, the report indicates, the Weather Bureau shows precipitation at Cumberland as 2.73 inches or 0.75 inches below the August average. The average daily temperature here was 74.4 degrees, or 0.09 degrees above normal.

Seven Hurt In Collision At Romney

No Serious Accidents Reported In County

Seven persons were seriously injured yesterday afternoon in a car-truck collision just outside the city limits of Romney, W. Va.

Sgt. Charles Burke of the West Virginia State Police detachment at Romney, said the accident occurred on Route 28, seven-tenths of a mile north of Romney.

Sgt. Burke said he had been unable to talk to any of the persons involved in the accident and did not know of the circumstances which caused the crash or the names of the persons who were hurt.

In other accidents over the weekend, Donald Moser, 25, Paw Paw, W. Va., was admitted to Memorial Hospital here after being pinned in his car when it crashed on route 9 near Paw Paw.

Moser sustained head injuries, lacerations and abrasions and was reported in "fair" condition last night. He was injured when his car failed to negotiate a curve and crashed.

Moser was thrown from the car and pinned beneath it. Several passing motorists helped lift the wrecked car so the injured man could be released.

Roy Twigg, RFD 3, Cumberland, was treated Saturday night at Memorial Hospital for a scalp laceration he received when his car struck a parked car on U. S. Route 220 near Centerville, Pa.

State Police at Bedford, Pa., said Twigg struck a parked car owned by Donald A. Cessna, RFD 3, Bedford, causing $1,000 in damages. Three persons in the parked car were injured slightly, but did not require hospitalization.

State Police at LaVale said that up until last night there had been no accidents in the county involving injuries. Several minor accidents were investigated in which only property damage was reported.

Trucker Killed On Turnpike

A 28-year-old Wisconsin truck driver was fatally injured early yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a car while he was standing alongside his tractor-trailer which was parked off the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Victim of the accident was Warren E. Arries, 28, Eau Claire, Wis., who was pronounced dead of a broken neck at the scene of the crash, which occurred near Everett, Pa.

Pennsylvania State Police identified the driver of the car which struck Arries as Walter P. Seaka, 19, Windsor Locks, Conn. Police said Seaka has been charged with involuntary manslaughter.

Police said Arries had pulled off the turnpike and was checking the livestock on his rig when the Seaka vehicle struck the parked truck. The car struck the left rear of the parked truck and continued on, striking the truck driver who was standing on the left side of his vehicle.

The accident occurred at 12:39 p. m. and police said Seaka apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Dies After Accident

George Northcraft, Chaneysville, Pa., died last night at Memorial Hospital after a motorcycle accident in Pennsylvania yesterday.

Yesterday was the eighth consecutive day the temperature has been in the 90s in Cumberland, and the forecast for today calls for more of the same.

The hot spell has been the longest of the summer and the high humidity has added to the discomfort of area residents.

Ike Presented Medallion At Hagerstown

Honors Confederate Dead From Antietam

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

The Civil War Centennial observance was focused on Western Maryland yesterday when a well-known private citizen from neighboring Pennsylvania came to receive a medallion and place a wreath at the monument to Confederate dead in Hagerstown Cemetery.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who has been retired since January 20 at the conclusion of eight years as President of the United States, was welcomed by an estimated 4,000 in the Public Square at Hagerstown, where the medallion was presented to him by Karl S. Betts, executive director of the United States Civil War Centennial Commission.

The former President was honored for "furthering the spirit of the Centennial" in his capacity as honorary chairman of the Commission.

Gen. U. S. Grant III, grandson of the great Civil War Union general, was to have made the presentation, but family illness prevented him from attending.

Ike Kept Busy

There were four different activities which kept the former President busy during his four-hour visit to the Washington County seat.

First came luncheon for some 100 guests in the Potomac Room of the Hotel Alexander. Mayor Winslow Burhans of Hagerstown presented Gen. Eisenhower a set of cuff links and tie pin as mementoes of the occasion, and also gave him a commemorative plate to take to Mrs. Eisenhower.

Gen. Eisenhower, in his usual homey manner, recalled that his first connection with Hagerstown was in 1918 shortly after he got his first command of a tank company near where Pickett's charge ended in Gettysburg. The camp was greatly in need of equipment, and he recalled that "Uncle Louie" Byron of Hagerstown provided the funds for the needed equipment. That Mr. Byron was the father of the later Rep. William Byron of the Sixth Congressional District and father-in-law of William Preston Lane governor of Maryland from 1947 Jr. of Hagerstown who was to 1951.

The general's first actual visit to Hagerstown was in the fall of 1952 when he came through Western Maryland in his first campaign for the Presidency.

Medallion Presented

The second event on the program was a ceremony in the Public Square at which Gen. Eisenhower received his medallion, which bore likenesses of two famed generals who preceded him —Grant and Lee.

On this occasion, Gen. Eisenhower, in brief remarks to the crowd, pointed out that "We are not here to re-live the passion and prejudice of 100 years ago. Today we are a united people dedicated to those values spelled out in documents written nearly two centuries ago."

Then came the parade featuring a number of marching units in uniforms of a century ago, including the Cumberland Continentals. Rain fell before the marchers could reach the cemetery, some seven blocks from the square, and this provided the only unscheduled event.

Finally came the ceremonies at the cemetery. Rep. Charles McC. Mathias Jr. of Frederick, representing the Sixth Congressional District, was master of ceremonies here. It was in this cemetery that 2,451 Confederates, mostly unknown, were buried in 1877—15 years after they died in the battle of Antietam. Most had

In September 1917, he was inducted into the Army and served from that time until June 1919 with Headquarters Company, 313th Infantry Regiment, 79th Division. Mr. Bujac attained the rank of sergeant and fought through all the major actions in France during World Wor 1.

After the war, he returned to the B&O, and remained until 1924 when he resigned. About a year later, however he returned to the railroad and has worked steadily since that date in August 1925.

He also is a member of Fort Cumberland Lodge A.F. and A. Masons, and of Ali Ghan Shrine Temple, and has been a member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers for 42 years.

October Overseas Tour May Be Final From Here

The October tour of England, Scotland and Ireland, sponsored by the Times-News, may be the last such overseas tour in the foreseeable future because of the critical international situation, according to J. William Hunt, tour manager for the local newspapers, and Thomas F. Conlon Jr., of the Conlon Travel Agency.

No showdown emergency is foreseen before November by international travel experts. Beyond that, no travel plans are being encouraged. Premier Khrushchev of the Soviet Union has said he would sign a peace treaty with East Germany before the end of this year. In October a meeting of the Supreme Congress is schedule. After that, anything can happen.

The British Isles tour, sponsored by the Times-News, runs from October 6 to 23 (17 days) and the deadline for taking advantage of this tour (total cost $738) is ...ember 6, a month before the group goes to London by jet.

Because this may be the last such local overseas tour, arrangements have been made by the Conlon Agency to accommodate last minute applications all next week.

Passports are issued now within a week or 10 days after application, and there are few formalities required for travel in Great Britain and Ireland, according to Mr. Hunt.

Complete information and folders outlining the tour may be secured at the Conlon Agency next week, but it is advisable to inquire Tuesday or Wednesday to assure reservations. Cost of the trip may be paid on the installment plan over a period of 18 or 20 months.
